Comparing Media Systems Beyond The Western World Communication Society And Politics:

Comparing Media Systems Beyond the Western World Daniel C. Hallin, Paolo Mancini, 2011-11-28 Comparing Media Systems Beyond the Western World offers a broad exploration of the conceptual foundations for comparative analysis of media and politics globally. It takes as its point of departure the widely used framework of Hallin and Mancini's Comparing Media Systems, exploring how the concepts and methods of their analysis do and do not prove useful when applied beyond the original focus of their most similar systems design and the West European and North American cases it encompassed. It is intended both to use a wider range of cases to interrogate and clarify the conceptual framework of Comparing Media Systems and to propose new models, concepts and approaches that will be useful for dealing with non-Western media systems and with processes of political transition. Comparing Media Systems Beyond the Western World covers among other cases Brazil, China, Israel, Lebanon, Lithuania, Poland, Russia, Saudi Arabia, South Africa, and Thailand. Comparing Media Systems Daniel C. Hallin, 2004. The Euro Crisis in the Press Katarzyna Sobieraj, 2023-01-24. This book offers a comparative study of the political debate on the Euro crisis in the press. In the tradition of Critical Discourse Analysis, it investigates the ways in which discourse produces and reproduces social domination and demystifies the hegemony of specific discourses. Combining quantitative content-based and qualitative text-based analyses, the book examines the discursive constructions of the crisis in a selection of broadsheet newspapers in Germany, Poland, and the UK and discloses their ideological foundations. The analysis of the representations of the crisis, social actors, and their agency and legitimating strategies, including the use of metaphors, demonstrates how neoliberalism determined the hegemonic discourse on the Euro crisis. It resulted in ideologically biased discursive constructions that created and legitimised an image of non-agentive social change. The book will appeal to an international audience of discourse and media studies. It will be of interest to university teachers, graduate and undergraduate students, and researchers of international and comparative media studies, political communication, linguistics, and politics. The Global Handbook of Media Accountability Susanne Fengler, Tobias Eberwein, Matthias Karmasin, 2021-12-30. The Global Handbook of Media Accountability brings together leading scholars to de-Westernize the academic debate on media accountability and discuss different models of media self-regulation and newsroom transparency around the globe. With examination of the status quo of media accountability in 43 countries worldwide, it offers a theoretically informed comparative analysis of accountability regimes of different varieties. As such, it constitutes the first interdisciplinary academic framework comparing structures of media accountability across all continents and creates an invaluable basis for further research and policymaking. It will therefore appeal to scholars and students of media studies and journalism, mass communication, sociology, and political science, as well as policymakers and practitioners. Media, Communication and the Struggle for Democratic Change Katrin Voltmer, Christian Christensen, Irene Neverla, Nicole Stremlau, Barbara Thomass, Nebojša Vladislavljević, Herman Wasserman, 2019-08-28. This book investigates the role of media and communication in processes of democratization in different political and cultural contexts Struggles for democratic change are periods of intense contest over the transformation of citizenship and the reconfiguration of political power These democratization conflicts are played out within an increasingly complex media ecology where traditional modes of communication merge with new digital networks thus bringing about multiple platforms for journalists and political actors to promote and contest competing definitions of reality The volume draws on extensive case study research in South Africa Kenya Egypt and Serbia to highlight the ambivalent role of the media as force for democratic change citizen empowerment and accountability as well as driver of polarization radicalization and manipulation

Instrumentalisation of Mass Media in Electoral Authoritarian Regimes Nozima Akhrarkhodjaeva, 2017-04-25 Focusing on the case of Russia during Putin s first two presidential terms this book examines media manipulation strategies in electoral authoritarian regimes Which instruments and approaches do incumbent elites employ to skew media coverage in favor of their preferred candidate in a presidential election What effects do these strategies have on news content Based on two case studies of the presidential election campaigns in Russia in 2000 and in 2008 this investigation identifies the critical internal mechanisms according to which these regimes work Looking at the same country while it transformed from a competitive into a hegemonic authoritarian regime allows a diachronic comparison of these two regime types The book explicates the subtle differences between competitive and hegemonic regimes different types of media manipulation strategies the diverging extent of media instrumentalization various interactions among state actors large business owners the media and journalists the respective effects that all these factors and interactions have on media content and the peculiar types of bias prevalent in each type of

Media and Transformation in Germany and Indonesia: Asymmetrical Comparisons and Perspectives Anne Grüne,Kai Hafez,Subekti Priyadharma,Sabrina Schmidt,2019-12-13 Indonesia the state with the largest Muslim population in the world is in a process of continuous societal transformation From the perspective of Media and Communication Studies recent political developments towards an increasingly consolidated democratic system are of great interest The comparison with Germany may seem unusual and asymmetrical The countries differ with regard to the religious and cultural practices and media and social developments are neither intertwined nor similar at first glance A closer look however reveals structural similarities between Germany and Indonesia dynamics and regressions of political transformation under pressure from radical political movements hyper modernization in parts of the economies and social life worlds of post modern urbanization a heritage of genocides and cultural struggles over the multi ethnic and multi religious fabrics of society The book deals with the role media play in the course of these political economic and cultural transformations Do they follow or lead the changes in political systems and societies What can countries learn from each other if they step outside the usual ethnocentric comparisons and engage in a more intense global dialogue The book is a groundbreaking endeavour in comparative Media and Communication Studies and brings together wellknown researchers from hitherto largely separated academic communities

The Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics Célestin Monga,Justin Yifu Lin,2015-07-02 A popular myth about the travails of Africa holds that the continent s long history of poor economic performance reflects the inability of its leaders and policymakers to fulfill the long list of preconditions to be met before sustained growth can be achieved These conditions are said to vary from the necessary quantity and quality of physical and human capital to the appropriate institutions and business environments While intellectually charming and often elegantly formulated that conventional wisdom is actually contradicted by historical evidence and common sense It also suggests a form of intellectual mimicry that posits a unique path to prosperity for all countries regardless of their level of development and economic structure In fact the argument underlining that reasoning is tautological and the policy prescriptions derived from it are fatally teleological low income countries are by definition those where such ingredients are missing None of today's high income countries started its growth process with the required and complete list of growth ingredients Unless one truly believes that the continent of Africa and most developing countries are ruled predominantly if not exclusively by plutocrats with a high propensity for sadomasochism the conventional view must be re examined debated and questioned This volume the second of the Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics reassesses the economic policies and practices observed across the continent since independence It offers a collection of analyses by some of the leading economists and development thinkers of our time and reflects a wide range of perspectives and viewpoints Africa's emergence as a potential economic powerhouse in the years and decades ahead amply justifies the scope and ambition of the book
