

Counselling Psychology

Personal Statement

I never thought I would come to rely on the help of others, but five years ago, I found myself in a situation where I desperately needed someone to talk to. I had been struggling with depression and self-image issues for years, but I had always pushed them aside, determined not to let them show. I was afraid of the backlash I would receive from my family and my friends, and I just wanted to be “normal” as I saw it. However, after several episodes where I could not remember my actions from several hours prior, I decided it was time to seek help before I hurt myself or others. It was one of the best decisions I made in my life, and it spurred my interest in psychology and counselling, fueling my determination to help others.

My visits to the counseling office helped me to not only talk through my issues, but face them through a scientific perspective. My counselor not only explained to me how she planned to help me, but also explained the scientific basis behind why those particular techniques were thought to work. By engaging me in my own treatment, I found a reason to continue delving deeper into the field, and found a new interest in my life. I made a full recovery in about six months, all without pharmaceutical intervention. I believe in the power of motivating others and helping them take charge of their lives, which is the reason why I want to enter the field of counseling.

Now that I have graduated with a degree in Psychology, I hope to be able to take the next step and complete a master’s degree in the field. This program will give me the opportunity to learn even more in-depth about the field, and expose myself to rigorous research and clinical experience that will allow me to further the development of treatment methods and the science driving new treatments. I look forward to continuing my education and taking one more step towards being able to help others who find themselves in a situation where they need help.

Occupational Therapy in Housing Sylvia Clutton, Jani Grisbooke, Sue Pengelly, 2006-03-30 This book provides practitioners with the foundations onto which they can build their own understanding and practice within housing. It is based on two fundamental principles: the importance of homes becoming enabling environments and promoting user-centred services. The authors argue that occupational therapists working in the distinct context of housing require additional background knowledge and professional skills to those used within healthcare settings. Explores a broad range of theory bases and developing practice within the area of occupational therapy in housing. Presents a vast array of knowledge, research and experience. Written by occupational therapists working as practitioners, educators and managers alongside academics in the social policy and disability issues.

Psychiatric Nursing Mary Ann Boyd, 2008 The AJN Book of the Year award-winning textbook Psychiatric Nursing: Contemporary Practice is now in its thoroughly revised, updated Fourth Edition. Based on the biopsychosocial model of psychiatric nursing, this text provides thorough coverage of mental health promotion, assessment and interventions in adults, families, children, adolescents and older adults. Features include psychoeducation, checklists, therapeutic dialogues, NCLEX notes, vignettes of famous people with mental disorders and illustrations showing the interrelationship of the biologic, psychologic and social domains of mental health and illness. This edition reintroduces the important chapter on sleep disorders and includes a new chapter on forensic psychiatry. A bound-in CD-ROM and companion Website offer numerous student and instructor resources, including Clinical Simulations and questions about movies involving mental disorders.

Counseling and Psychotherapy: Theories in Context and Practice John Sommers-Flanagan, Rita Sommers-Flanagan, 2015-05-20 Apply the major psychotherapy theories into practice with this comprehensive text. Counseling and Psychotherapy: Theories in Context and Practice: Skills, Strategies and Techniques 2nd Edition is an in-depth guide that provides useful learning aids, instructions for ongoing assessment and valuable case studies. More than just a reference, this approachable resource highlights practical applications of theoretical concepts covering both theory and technique with one text. Easy to read and with engaging information that has been recently revised to align with the latest in industry best practices, this book is the perfect resource for graduate-level counseling theory courses in counselor education, marriage and family therapy, counseling psychology and clinical psychology. Included with each copy of the text is an access code to the online Video Resource Center (VRC). The VRC features eleven videos, each one covering a different therapeutic approach using real therapists and clients, not actors. These videos provide a perfect complement to the book by showing what the different theories look like in practice. The Second Edition features new chapters on Family Systems Theory and Therapy as well as Gestalt Theory and Therapy. Extended case examples in each of the twelve Theory chapters. A treatment planning section that illustrates how specific theories can be used in problem formulation, specific interventions and potential outcomes assessment. Deeper and more continuous examination of gender and cultural issues. An evidence-based status section in each Theory chapter focusing on what we know from the scientific research with the goal of developing critical thinking skills A new section on Outcome Measures that provides ideas on how client outcomes can be tracked using practice based evidence Showcasing the latest research theory and evidence based practice in an engaging and relatable style Counseling and Psychotherapy Theories in Context and Practice is an illuminating text with outstanding practical value
