The Communist Takeover of Hangzhou James Z. Gao,2004-02-28 Existing literature on the Chinese Revolution takes into account the influence of peasant society on Mao s ideas and policies but rarely discusses a reverse effect of comparable significance namely how peasant cadres were affected by the urban environment into which they moved In this detailed examination of the cultural dimension of regime change in the early years of the Revolution James Gao looks at how rural based cadres changed and were changed by the urban culture that they were sent to dominate He investigates how Communist cadres at the middle and lower levels left their familiar rural environment to take over the city of Hangzhou and how they consolidated political control established economic stability developed institutional reforms and created political rituals to transform the urban culture His book analyzes the interplay between revolutionary and non revolutionary culture with respect to the varying degrees with which they resisted and adapted to each other It reveals the essential role of cultural identity in legitimizing the new regime and keeping its revolutionary ideal alive

Enchanted Revolution Xiaofei

Kang,2023 The theoretical methodological and comparative frameworks for the discussion of religion gender and revolutionary propaganda in China It then places this discussion in the historical context of wartime Communist headquarters of Yan an where the Party launched its first mass campaign against superstition in 1944 45 The campaign illustrates how Mao s mass line principle compelled propaganda workers to engage with the rural culture in order to create new meanings from old knowledge Red Is Not the Only Color Patricia Sieber,2001-09-05 The first English language anthology of its kind Red Is Not the Only Color offers a window into the uncharted terrain of intimate relations between Chinese women As urban China has undergone rapid transformation same sex relations have emerged as a significant if previously neglected touchstone for the exploration of the meaning of social change The short fiction in this volume highlights tensions between tradition and modernization family and state art and commerce love and sex These stories introduce an emerging generation of acclaimed and at times controversial women writers including Chen Ran Bikwan Wong and Chen Xue By presenting fiction from the PRC Hong Kong and Taiwan the collection deliberately maps the literary contours of same sex intimacy in broadly cultural rather than purely political terms The perceptive and informative introduction surveys the social evolution of female same sex intimacy in twentieth century China examines how each author engages with her Chinese context and discusses how the stories compare with earlier representations of Chinese same sex intimacy in the United States Compelling for its literary quality the anthology will also spur reflection among scholars of modern Chinese literature as well as readers interested in questions of gender sexuality and cross cultural representation
