China On Video Smaller Screen Realities Asias Transformations:

China on Video Paola Voci, 2010-06-10 China On Video is the first in depth study that examines smaller screen realities and the important role they play not only in the fast changing Chinese mediascape but also more broadly in the practice of experimental and non mainstream cinema At the crossroads of several disciplines film media new media media anthropology visual arts contemporary China area studies and cultural studies this book reveals the existence of a creative humorous but also socially and politically critical China on video which locates itself outside of the intellectual discourse surrounding both auteur cinema and digital art By describing smaller screen movies moviemaking and viewing as light realities Voci points to their insignificant weight in terms of production costs distribution size profit gains intellectual or artistic ambitions but also their deep meaning in defining an alternative way of seeing and understanding the world The author proposes that lightness is a concept that can usefully be deployed to describe the moving image beyond the specificity of recent new media developments and which can in fact help us rethink previous cinematic practices in broad terms both spatially and temporally

Hwee Lim, Julian Ward, 2020-04-30 This revised and updated new edition provides a comprehensive introduction to the history of cinema in mainland China Hong Kong and Taiwan as well as to diasporic and transnational Chinese film making from the beginnings of cinema to the present day Chapters by leading international scholars are grouped in thematic sections addressing key historical periods film movements genres stars and auteurs and the industrial and technological contexts of cinema in Greater China The San Francisco System and Its Legacies Kimie Hara, 2014-11-20 In September 1951 Japan signed a peace treaty with forty eight countries in San Francisco in April 1952 the treaty came into effect The San Francisco Peace Treaty is an international agreement that in significant ways shaped the post World War II international order in the Asia Pacific With its associated security arrangements it laid the foundation for the regional structure of Cold War confrontation the San Francisco System fully reflected the strategic interests and policy priorities of the peace conference s host nation the United States The treaty fell far short of settling outstanding issues in the wake of the Pacific War or facilitating a clean start for the post war period Rather critical aspects of the settlement were left equivocal and continue to have significant and worrisome implications for regional international relations This book examines the key developments of the contentious political and security issues in the Asia Pacific that share a common foundation in the post war disposition of Japan particularly the San Francisco Peace Treaty These include both tangible and intangible issues such as disputes over territories and history problems Taking the San Francisco System as its conceptual grounding the authors examine how these issues developed and have remained contentious long after the San Francisco arrangements To provide bases for producing solutions the chapters offer comprehensive accounts that explain and deepen our understanding of these complex regional issues and the San Francisco System as a whole By closely and systematically examining the legacy and various ramifications of the San Francisco System this fascinating book adds to our understanding of current and growing tensions in the region As such it will be of great interest to students and scholars of Asian studies history international relations and politics

Transnational Trajectories in East Asia Yasemin Nuhoğlu Soysal, 2014-11-20 In recent decades East Asia has become increasingly interconnected through trade investment migration and popular culture at regional and global levels At the same time the region has seen renewed national assertiveness and nationalist impulses The book interrogates these seemingly contradictory developments as they bear on the transformations of the nation and citizenship in East Asia Conventionally studies on East Asia juxtapose these developments focusing on the much exercised dichotomy of the national and transnational In contrast this book suggests a different orientation First it moves beyond the simplistic view that demarcates the transnational as the West Second it does not view the national and transnational as distinct or contradictory spheres of influence and analysis but rather focuses on the interactions between the two with a view on how these interactions work to transform the ideals and practices of the good nation good society and good citizen The chapters cover a broad range of empirical research education science immigration multicultural policy human rights gender and youth orientations art and food flows politics of values and regional identity which highlight the ways in which the nation is reconfigured and the relationship between the citizen and national collective is redefined in relation to transnational dynamics and frameworks Transnational Trajectories in East Asia provides a new perspective on and original analysis of transnational processes bringing a fresh understanding to developments of the nation and citizenship in the region It will be of great interest to students and scholars of transnationalization and globalization comparative citizenship migration and multiculturalism and Asian politics society and regionalism

Asian Video Cultures Joshua Neves, Bhaskar Sarkar, 2017-11-16 The contributors to this volume theorize Asian video cultures in the context of social movements market economies and local popular cultures to complicate notions of the Asian experience of global media Whether discussing video platforms in Japan and Indonesia K pop reception videos amateur music videos circulated via microSD cards in India or the censorship of Bollywood films in Nigeria the essays trace the myriad ways Asian video reshapes media politics and aesthetic practices While many influential commentators overlook denounce and trivialize Asian video the contributors here show how it belongs to the shifting core of contemporary global media thereby moving conversations about Asian media beyond static East West imaginaries residual Cold War mentalities triumphalist declarations about resurgent Asias and budding jingoisms In so doing they write Asia s vibrant media practices into the mainstream of global media and cultural theories while challenging and complicating hegemonic ideas about the global as well as digital media Contributors Conerly Casey Jenny Chio Michelle Cho Kay Dickinson Bishnupriya Ghosh Feng Mei Heberer Tzu hui Celina Hung Rahul Mukherjee Joshua Neves Bhaskar Sarkar Nishant Shah Abhigyan Singh SV Srinivas Marc Steinberg Chia chi Wu Patricia Zimmerman

The Role of American NGOs in China's Modernization Norton Wheeler, 2013 In the waning years of the Cold War the United States and China began to cautiously engage in cultural educational and policy exchanges which in turn strengthened new security and economic ties These links have helped shape the most important bilateral relationship in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries This book explores the dynamics of cultural exchange through an in depth historical investigation of three organizations at the forefront of U S China non governmental relations the Hopkins Nanjing Center for Chinese and American Studies the National Committee on United States China Relations and The 1990 Institute Norton Wheeler reveals the impact of American non governmental organizations NGOs on education environment fiscal policy and civil society in contemporary China In turn this book illuminates the important role that NGOs play in complementing formal diplomacy and presents a model of society to society relations that moves beyond old debates over cultural imperialism Finally the book highlights the increasingly significant role of Chinese Americans as bridges between the two societies Based on extensive archival research and interviews with leading American and Chinese figures this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese politics and history international relations and transnational NGOs

Technology, Gender and History in Imperial China Francesca Bray, 2013-06-19 What can the history of technology contribute to our understanding of late imperial China Most stories about technology in pre modern China follow a well worn plot in about 1400 after an early ferment of creativity that made it the most technologically sophisticated civilisation in the world China entered an era of technical lethargy and decline But how are we to reconcile this tale which portrays China in the Ming and Qing dynasties as a dying giant that had outgrown its own strength with the wealth of counterevidence affirming that the country remained rich vigorous and powerful at least until the end of the eighteenth century Does this seeming contradiction mean that the stagnation story is simply wrong or perhaps that technology was irrelevant to how imperial society worked Or does it imply that historians of technology should ask better questions about what technology was what it did and what it meant in pre modern societies like late imperial China In this book Francesca Bray explores subjects such as technology and ethics technology and gendered subjectivities both female and male and technology and statecraft to illuminate how material settings and practices shaped topographies of everyday experience and ideologies of government techniques of the self and technologies of the subject Examining technologies ranging from ploughing and weaving to drawing pictures building a house prescribing medicine or composing a text this book offers a rich insight into the interplay between the micro and macro politics of everyday life and the workings of governmentality in late imperial China showing that gender principles were woven into the very fabric of empire from cosmology and ideologies of rule to the material foundations of the state and the everyday practices of the domestic sphere This authoritative text will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese history as well as those working on global history and the histories of gender technology and agriculture Furthermore it will be of great use to those interested in social and cultural anthropology and material culture

Remaking China's Great Cities Samuel Y. Liang, 2014-07-25 China's rapid urbanization has restructured the great socialist cities Beijing Shanghai and Guangzhou into mega cities that embrace global capitalism This book focuses on the urban transformations of these three cities Beijing is the nation's political and cultural capital Shanghai is the economic and financial powerhouse and Guangzhou is the capital of Guangdong Province and the regional center of south China All are historical cities with rich imperial colonial and regional heritages and all have been drastically transformed in the last six decades This book examines the cities' continuous urban legacies since 1949 in relation to state governance economic reforms and cultural production By adopting local historical perspectives it offers more nuanced accounts of the current urban change than the modernization globalization paradigm and conceptualizes the change in the context of the cities' socialist colonial and imperial legacies Specifically Samuel Y. Liang offers an overview of the urban planning and territorial expansion of the great cities since 1949 explores the production and consumption of urban housing its spatial forms media representations and socio-political implications and examines the state-led redevelopment of old urban cores and residential neighborhoods and the urban conservation movement Remaking China's Great Cities will be of great interest to students and scholars working across a range of fields including Chinese studies Chinese culture and society urban studies and architecture

Contesting Cyberspace in China Rongbin Han, 2018-04-10 The Internet was supposed to be an antidote to authoritarianism It can enable citizens to express themselves freely and organize outside state control Yet while online activity has helped challenge authoritarian rule in some cases other regimes have endured no movement comparable to the Arab Spring has arisen in China In Contesting Cyberspace in China Rongbin Han offers a powerful counterintuitive explanation for the survival of the world's largest authoritarian regime in the digital age Han reveals the complex internal dynamics of online expression in China showing how the state service providers and netizens negotiate the limits of discourse He finds that state censorship has conditioned online expression yet has failed to bring it under control However Han also finds that freer expression may work to the advantage of the regime because its critics are not the only ones empowered the Internet has proved less threatening than expected due to the multiplicity of beliefs identities and values online State sponsored and spontaneous pro government commenters have turned out to be a major presence on the Chinese internet denigrating dissenters and barraging oppositional voices Han explores the recruitment training and behavior of hired commenters the fifty cent army as well as group identity formation among nationalistic Internet posters who see themselves as patriots defending China against online saboteurs Drawing on a rich set of data collected through interviews participant observation and long term online ethnography as well as official reports and state directives Contesting Cyberspace in China interrogates our assumptions about authoritarian resilience and the democratizing power of the Internet
