

Checks & Minor Adjustments

Upright Lift Chains

Triple-stage uprights use two chain sets (refer to illustration above); one set for carriage free lift and one set for inner rail lift.

- Adjustment Chain Anchors (A), located at the back of the Free Lift Cylinder are used to adjust the carriage lift chains. These chains attach to chain anchors at the base of the lift carriage. The carriage chain anchors are not adjustable.
- Adjustment Chain Anchors (B), located at the back of the Outer Rail Assembly are used to adjust Inner Rail Lift Chains attached to chain anchors at the base of the Inner Rail Assembly (see above).

The Inner Rail Lift Chains are routed over Sheaves (C) attached to the Intermediate Rail Assembly. As the Rail Lift Cylinders extend the Intermediate Rail elevates thus the lift chains routed over Sheaves (C) elevate the Inner Rail Assembly.

- All Lift Chains must be adjusted to proper length and equal tension as outlined on the following pages.
