

Musts:

Manageable- reasonable goals for 3 to 5 lessons

Content specific- must be at the heart of the subject matter

ELD- do include whether math or literacy

Build on students' prior knowledge

Clearly set out models and scaffolds to support student learning

Musts:

Describe your evidence for student learning (assessments) - name them- what formal, informal, and self-assessment approaches, strategies, and tools will you use. Describe all three.

Level 3

Candidate's learning segment includes manageable content-specific and, if appropriate, ELD learning goal(s) that clearly build on students' prior content knowledge. Modeling and/or scaffolding strategies are clearly described.

Candidate clearly identifies the multiple kinds of evidence they will look for to determine that students met the learning goal(s) and the assessment(s) they will use to make this determination.

Learning segment includes learning activities that are appropriately supporting, engaging, and/or challenging for students, and grouping strategies are appropriate.

Context-specific instructional strategies include adaptations and accommodations that will assist students to reach learning goals in multiple ways.

Musts:

Learning activities need to engage students in ways that move their learning. Do include activities and approaches that support the range of students in your class (think focus students in Cycle1) as well as challenge your students (Higher Order Thinking matters!)

Musts:

Your lessons should give students the opportunity to show their learning in more than one way- think about allowing different approaches to any one assessment - or student choice in assessment.

You must meet all Level 3 requirements. Missing any one moves you to a Level 2 score
