Costas Question Stems:

Self-Determination and Collective Responsibility in the Secessionist Struggle Costas Laoutides, 2016-03-03 The often violent emergence of new independent states following the end of the Cold War generated discussion about the normative grounds of territorial separatism A number of opposing approaches surfaced debating whether and under which circumstances there is a right for a community to secede from its host country Overwhelmingly these studies placed emphasis on the right to secession and neglected the moral stance of secessionist movements as agents in international relations In this book Costas Laoutides explores the collective moral agency involved in secessionist struggles offering a theoretical model for the collective responsibility of secessionist groups Case studies on the Kurds and the people of Moldova Transdnistria illustrate the author's theoretical arguments as he seeks to establish how although the principle of self-determination was envisaged as a means of gradually bestowing political power upon the people it never managed to realize its full potential because it was interpreted strictly within a framework of exclusionary politics of identity Politics, Postmodernity, and Critical Legal Studies Costas Douzinas, Peter Goodrich, Yifat Hachamovitch, 1994 This is a unique guide to one of the most exciting developments within contemporary jurisprudence It systematically applies a critical philosophy to the substance of common law overviews its politics and cultural significance The Cambridge Companion to Human Rights Law

Conor Gearty, Costas Douzinas, 2012-11-22 Human rights are considered one of the big ideas of the early twenty-first century This book presents in an authoritative and readable form the variety of platforms on which human rights law is practiced today reflecting also on the dynamic interrelationships that exist between these various levels The collection has a critical edge The chapters engage with how human rights law has developed in its various subfields what if anything has been achieved and at what cost in terms of expected or produced unexpected side effects The authors pass judgment about the consistency efficacy and success of human rights law set against the standards of the field itself or other external goals Written by world class academics this Companion will be essential reading for students and scholars of human rights law

Diverse and Creative Voices Sung Wook Chung, Dieumeme Noelliste, 2015-09-24 As the twentieth century passed its midpoint and was rushing toward its end a growing number of Majority World theologians came to realize that they could in fact do theology in their own contexts for the benefit of their own people Thus from the 1960s onward theologians in the global South have embarked on a form of theological construction that has sometimes been described as contextual reflection or contextualized theology This volume is motivated by the conviction that these efforts have resulted in theological work that is also beneficial for Christians in other parts of the world The editors have invited Majority World theologians to share their reflections on several themes of Christian faith from their own socio-historical perspectives but with an unswerving commitment to the authority of Scripture It is hoped that these fresh reflections will help Christians in the West to engage and benefit from the perspectives of fellow believers in the global South Work, Working and Work Relationships in a

Changing World Clare Kelliher, Julia Richardson, 2018-12-17 This book is concerned with the rapid and varied changes in the nature of work and work relationships which have taken place in recent years While technological innovation has been a key contributor to the nature and pace of change other social and market trends have also played a part such as increasing workforce diversity enhanced competition and greater global integration Responding to these trends alongside cost pressures and the need for continued responsiveness to the environment organizations have changed the way in which work is organized There have also been shifts in product markets with growing demand for authenticity and refinement of the customer experience which has further implications for how work is organized and enacted At the same time employees have sought changes in their work arrangements in order to help them achieve a more satisfactory relationship between their work and non work lives Many have also taken increased responsibility for managing their own work opportunities moving away from dependency on a single employer The implications of these significant and widespread changes are the central focus of this book and in particular the implications for workers managers and organizations It brings together contributions from an international team of renowned management scholars who explore the opportunities and challenges presented by technological and digital innovation consumer social and organizational change Drawing on empirical evidence from Europe North America and Australia Work Working and Work Relationships in a Changing World considers new forms of service work technologically enabled work and independent professionals to provide in depth insight into work experiences in the 21st Century

Subjectification Angeliki Athanasiadou, Costas Canakis, Bert Cornillie, 2011-12-22 Subjectification is a widespread phenomenon and has emerged as a most pervasive tendency in diachronic semantic change Traugott and in synchronic semantic extension Langacker Its importance is increasingly valued despite the fact that it is an area that has been treated differently by different scholars One of the book s objectives is to generate a clearer understanding of the two major models of subjectivity to see where they can meet but also where intrinsic differences present barriers to any integration Another objective is to speculate on whether the notions of subjectivity and subjectification have reshaped our understanding of grammar The goals of the volume are the following The volume brings together contributions dealing with particular areas of grammar in the framework of subjectivity and subjectification Starting with Stein and Wright s 1995 edition publications on the specific process have broadened the scope of this research Indeed the question how far have we come addressed in the introduction has become central in reaching a clearer understanding of the above framework and even expanding it Individual papers explore not only wider questions and implications on the theoretical status of subjectivity and subjectification in language but are empirically supported by thorough and extensive data from different languages Asian languages German Spanish Greek Dutch English These studies of particular areas of grammar modals adjectives or of levels of analysis syntax can help implement or adapt the existing accounts of subjectivity made in the literature The challenge for every single paper is to show whether the two major approaches Langacker s and Traugott s can possibly be integrated or whether they are fundamentally different The papers also investigate into the questions whether we have a continuum from highly subjective to more objective whether subjective need be opposed to objective or whether subjective may also be understood in contrast to neutral which is often the case in Traugott's examples of grammaticalization Furthermore the issue of intersubjectivity i.e. putting the addressee's perspective onstage is also discussed

Transprofessional Diplomacy Costas M. Constantinou, Noé Cornago, Fiona McConnell, 2017-01-05 Diplomacy is no longer restricted to a single vocation nor implemented exclusively through interaction amongst official representatives In exploring the challenges that these transformations produce this work surveys firstly the genealogy of diplomacy as a profession tracing how it changed from a civic duty into a vocation requiring training and the acquisition of specific knowledge and skills Secondly using the lens of the sociology of professions the development of diplomacy as a distinctive profession is examined including its importance for the consolidation of the power of modern nation states Thirdly it examines how the landscape of professional diplomacy is being diversified and we argue enriched by a series of non state actors with their corresponding professionals transforming the phenomenology of contemporary diplomacy Rather than seeing this pluralization of diplomatic actors in negative terms as the deprofessionalization of diplomacy we frame these trends as transprofessionalization that is as a productive development that reflects the expanded diplomatic space and the intensified pace of global interconnections and networks and the new possibilities they unleash for practising diplomacy in different milieus
