Concrete Structure Management - Guide to Ownership and Good Practice fib Fédération internationale du béton, 2008-01-01 Construction projects are undertaken to meet a variety of business service and aspirational objectives and needs The success of a building or an element of infrastructure depends on how well it meets the owner s needs and interests or those of the users Recent changes in owner attitudes to construction are reflected in an increasing interest in through life costs i e not only the capital costs of construction but also the operational costs associated with a structure s functional performance for a defined life span The owner can greatly improve the likelihood of achieving the value they seek from the facility by being intimately and effectively involved in the definition of performance requirements at the start of the construction procurement process The objective of fib Bulletin 44 is to provide guidance to owners of concrete structures on the management of their concrete structures buildings and infrastructure as part of their business goals or the service objectives of their organization best practice in the management of concrete structures their responsibilities with respect to the management of their concrete structures the wider context and issues of service life design information and direction needed by the supporting professional team of architects engineers specifiers contractors and others This Guide also provides background information on topics such as deterioration processes and technical procedures used for the management of concrete structures including reference to international standards for the protection and repair of concrete structures These activities are illustrated by application examples case histories and by a section addressing frequently asked questions A brief review is made of some potential future developments 3rd fib Congress Washington USA FIB - International Federation for Structural Concrete, 2010-06-01

Hot Deserts M. J. Walker, 2012 This volume provides an authoritative and comprehensive state of the art review of hot desert terrains in all parts of the world their geomaterials and influence on civil engineering site investigation design and construction It primarily covers conditions and materials in modern hot deserts but there is also coverage of unmodified ancient desert soils that exhibit engineering behaviour similar to modern desert materials Thorough and up to date guidance on modern field evaluation and ground investigation techniques in hot arid areas is provided including reference to a new approach to the desert model and detailed specialised assessments of the latest methods for materials characterisation and testing The volume is based on world wide experience in hot desert terrain and draws upon the knowledge and expertise of the members of a Geological Society Engineering Group Working Party comprising practising geologists geomorphologists and civil engineers with a wealth of varied but complementary experience of working in hot deserts It is an essential reference book for professionals as well as a valuable textbook for students It is written in a style that is accessible to the non specialist A comprehensive glossary is also included The Geological Society of London Founded in 1807 the Geological Society of London is the oldest geological society in the world and one of the largest publishers in the Earth sciences The Society publishes a wide range of high quality peer reviewed titles for academics and professionals working in the geosciences and enjoys an enviable international reputation for the quality of its work

Structural Concrete, Volume 3 fib Fédération internationale du béton, 2009 The second edition of the Structural Concrete Textbook is an extensive revision that reflects advances in knowledge and technology over the past decade It was prepared in the intermediate period from the CEP FIP Model Code 1990 MC90 to fib Model Code 2010 MC2010 and as such incorporates a significant amount of information that has been already finalized for MC2010 while keeping some material from MC90 that was not yet modified considerably The objective of the Textbook is to give detailed information on a wide range of concrete engineering from selection of appropriate structural system and also materials through design and execution and finally behaviour in use The revised fib Structural Concrete Textbook covers the following main topics phases of design process conceptual design short and long term properties of conventional concrete including creep shrinkage fatigue and temperature influences special types of concretes such as self compacting concrete architectural concrete fibre reinforced concrete high and ultra high performance concrete properties of reinforcing and prestressing materials bond tension stiffening moment curvature confining effect dowel action aggregate interlock structural analysis with or without time dependent effects definition of limit states control of cracking and deformations design for moment shear or torsion buckling fatigue anchorages splices detailing design for durability including service life design aspects deterioration mechanisms modelling of deterioration mechanisms environmental influences influences of design and execution on durability fire design including changes in material and structural properties spalling degree of deterioration member design linear members and slabs with reinforcement layout deep beams management assessment maintenance repair including conservation strategies risk management types of interventions as well as aspects of execution quality assurance formwork and curing The updated Textbook provides the basics of material and structural behaviour and the fundamental knowledge needed for the design assessment or retrofitting of concrete structures It will be essential reading material for graduate students in the field of structural concrete and also assist designers and consultants in understanding the background to the rules they apply in their practice Furthermore it should prove particularly valuable to users of the new editions of Eurocode 2 for concrete buildings bridges and container structures which are based only partly on MC90 and partly on more recent knowledge which was not included in the 1999 edition of the Textbook

Alkali-Aggregate Reaction in Concrete Ian Sims, Alan Poole, 2017-08-01 Alkali Aggregate Reaction in Concrete A World Review is unique in providing authoritative and up to date expert information on the causes and effects of Alkali Aggregate Reaction AAR in concrete structures worldwide In 1992 a first edition entitled The Alkali Silica Reaction in Concrete edited by Professor Narayan Swamy was published in a first attempt to cover this concrete problem from a global perspective but the coverage was incomplete This completely new edition offers a fully updated and more universal coverage of the world situation concerning AAR and includes a wealth of new evidence and research information that has accumulated in the intervening years Although there are various textbooks offering readers sections that deal with AAR deterioration and damage to concrete no other single book brings together the views of recognised international experts in the field and the wealth of scattered research information that is available It provides a state of the art review and deals authoritatively with the mechanisms of AAR its diagnosis and how to treat concrete affected by AAR It is illustrated by numerous actual examples from around the world and comprises specialist contributions provided by senior engineers and scientists from many parts of the world The book is divided into two distinct but complementary parts The first five chapters deal with the most recent findings concerning the mechanisms involved in the reaction methods concerning its diagnosis testing and evaluation together with an appraisal of current methods used in its avoidance and in the remediation of affected concrete structures The second part is divided into eleven chapters covering each region of the world in turn These chapters have been written by experts with specialist knowledge of AAR in the countries involved and include an authoritative appraisal of the problem and its solution as it affects concrete structures in the region Such an authoritative compilation of information on AAR has not been attempted previously on this scale and this work is therefore an essential source for practising and research civil engineers consultant engineers and materials scientists as well as aggregate and cement producers designers and concrete suppliers especially regarding projects outside their own region
