Design As Politics Tony Fry:

Design as Politics Tony Fry, 2010-11-01 Design as Politics confronts the inadequacy of contemporary politics to deal with unsustainability Current solutions to unsustainability are analysed as utterly insufficient for dealing with the problems but further than this the book questions the very ability of democracy to deliver a sustainable future Design as Politics argues that finding solutions to this problem of which climate change is only one part demands original and radical thinking Rather than reverting to failed political ideologies the book proposes a post democratic politics In this Design occupies a major role not as it is but as it could be if transformed into a powerful agent of change a force to create and extend freedom The book does no less than position Design as a vital form of political action

The Design Politics of the Passport Mahmoud Keshavarz, 2018-12-13 The Design Politics of the Passport presents an innovative study of the passport and its associated social political and material practices as a means of uncovering the workings of design politics It traces the histories technologies power relations and contestations around this small but powerful artefact to establish a framework for understanding how design is always enmeshed in the political and how politics can be understood in terms of material objects Combining design studies with critical border studies alongside ethnographic work among undocumented migrants border transgressors and passport forgers this book shows how a world made and designed as open and hospitable to some is strictly enclosed confined and demarcated for many others and how those affected by such injustices dissent from the immobilities imposed on them through the same capacity of design and artifice

Design and the Question of History Tony Fry, Clive Dilnot, Susan Stewart, 2015-02-26 Design and the Question of History is not a work of Design History Rather it is a mixture of mediation advocacy and polemic that takes seriously the directive force of design as an historical actor in and upon the world Understanding design as a shaper of worlds within which the political ethical and historical character of human being is at stake this text demands radically transformed notions of both design and history Above all the authors posit history as the generational site of the future Blindness to history it is suggested blinds us both to possibility and to the foreclosure of possibilities enacted through our designing The text is not a resolved continuous work presented through one voice Rather the three authors cut across each other presenting readers with the task of disclosing to themselves the commonalities repetitions and differences within the deployed arguments issues approaches and styles from which the text is constituted This is a work of friendship of solidarity in difference an act of cultural politics It invites the reader to take a position it seeks engagement over agreement The Politics of Furniture Fredie Floré, Cammie McAtee, 2017-02-10 In many different parts of the world modern furniture elements have served as material expressions of power in the post war era They were often meant to express an international and in some respects apolitical modern language but when placed in a sensitive setting or a meaningful architectural context they were highly capable of negotiating or manipulating ideological messages The agency of modern furniture was often less overt than that of political slogans or statements but as the chapters in this book reveal it had the potential of becoming a persuasive and malleable ally in very diverse politically charged arenas including embassies governmental ministries showrooms exhibitions design schools libraries museums and even prisons This collection of chapters examines the consolidating as well as the disrupting force of modern furniture in the global context between 1945 and the mid 1970s The volume shows that key to understanding this phenomenon is the study of the national as well as transnational systems through which it was launched promoted and received While some chapters squarely focus on individual furniture elements as vehicles communicating political and social meaning others consider the role of furniture within potent sites that demand careful negotiation whether between governments cultures or buyer and seller In doing so the book explicitly engages different scholarly fields design history history of interior architecture architectural history cultural history diplomatic and political history postcolonial studies tourism studies material culture studies furniture history and heritage and preservation studies Taken together the narratives and case studies compiled in this volume offer a better understanding of the political agency of post war modern furniture in its original historical context At the same time they will enrich current debates on reuse relocation or reproduction of some of these elements Design and Politics Katarina Serulus, 2018-10-08 The unique position of design in the political context of postwar Belgium In the postwar era design became important as a marker of modernity and progress at world fairs and international exhibitions and in the global markets The Belgian state took a special interest in this vanguard phenomenon of industrial design as a vital political and economic strategic tool in the context of the Cold War and the creation of the European community This book describes the unique position that design occupied in the political context of postwar Belgium as it analyses the public promotion of design between 1950 and 1986 It traces this process from the first government backed manifestations and institutions in the 1950s through the 1960s and 1970s until design lost its privileged position as a state backed institution a process which culminated in the closure of the Brussels Design Centre in 1986 in the midst of the Belgian federalisation process A key figure in this history is the policymaker Josine des Cressonni res who played a leading role in the national and international design community and succeeded in connecting very different political worlds through the medium of design Design D.J. Huppatz, 2019-10-17 Design is everywhere It shapes not only our present but also our future An essential introductory guide Design The Key Concepts covers fundamental design concepts thinking service context interaction experience and systems Each concept is situated within a broad context enabling the reader to understand design's contemporary practice and its relationship to issues such as new technology social and economic development globalization and sustainability Concepts are also explained by use of concise illustrated case studies of contemporary objects spaces systems and methods such as Uber the iPhone Kickstarter and IKEA Chapter summaries and supporting discussion questions make this an engaging and accessible introduction for students and those new to the field An annotated bibliography provides direction for further reading

Craft is Political D Wood, 2021-04-22 Throughout the 21st century various craft practices have drawn the attention of academics and the general public in the West In Craft is Political D Wood has gathered a collection of essays to argue that this attention is a direct response to and critique of the particular economic social and technological contexts in which we live Just as Ruskin and Morris viewed craft and its ethos in the 1800s as a kind of political opposition to the Industrial Revolution Wood and her authors contend that current craft activities are politically saturated when perspectives from the Global South Indigenous ideology and even Western government policy are examined Craft is Political argues that a holistic perspective on craft in light of colonialism post colonialism critical race theory and globalisation is overdue A great diversity of case studies is included from craft and design in Turkey and craft markets in New Zealand to Indigenous practitioners in Taiwan and Finnish craft education Craft is Political brings together authors from a variety of disciplines and nations to consider politicised craft

Designs for the Pluriverse Arturo

Escobar, 2018-03-15 In Designs for the Pluriverse Arturo Escobar presents a new vision of design theory and practice aimed at channeling design's world making capacity toward ways of being and doing that are deeply attuned to justice and the Earth Noting that most design from consumer goods and digital technologies to built environments currently serves capitalist ends Escobar argues for the development of an autonomous design that eschews commercial and modernizing aims in favor of more collaborative and place based approaches Such design attends to questions of environment experience and politics while focusing on the production of human experience based on the radical interdependence of all beings Mapping autonomous design's principles to the history of decolonial efforts of indigenous and Afro descended people in Latin America Escobar shows how refiguring current design practices could lead to the creation of more just and sustainable social orders
