Dependent Communities

Dependent Communities:

Dependent Communities Caroline Hughes, 2018-05-31 Dependent Communities investigates the political situations in contemporary Cambodia and East Timor where powerful international donors intervened following deadly civil conflicts. This comparative analysis critiques international policies that focus on rebuilding state institutions to accommodate the global market. In addition, it explores the dilemmas of politicians in Cambodia and East Timor who struggle to satisfy both wealthy foreign benefactors and constituents at home groups whose interests frequently conflict. Hughes argues that the policies of Western aid organizations tend to stifle active political engagement by the citizens of countries that have been torn apart by war. The neoliberal ideology promulgated by United Nations administrations and other international NGOs advocates state sovereignty but in fact sovereignty is too flimsy a foundation for effective modern democratic politics. The result is an oppressive peace that tends to rob survivors and former resistance fighters of their agency and aspirations for genuine postwar independence. In her study of these two cases, Hughes demonstrates that the clientelist strategies of Hun Sen, Cambodia's postwar leader, have created a shadow network of elites and their followers that has been comparatively effective in serving the country's villages even though so often coercive and corrupt. East Timor's postwar leaders, on the other hand, have alienated voters by attempting to follow the guidelines of the donors closely and ignoring the immediate needs and voices of the people. Dependent Communities offers a searing analysis of contemporary international aid strategies based on the author's years of fieldwork in Cambodia and East Timor.

A diagnostic on social protection needs and opportunities for forest-dependent communities in the United Republic of Tanzania Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-07-12 This study is aimed at gaining an understanding of the poverty and vulnerability situation of forest-dependent communities in the United Republic of Tanzania and generating information on the availability of social protection interventions with a view to identifying pathways for establishing sustainable social protection for these communities. Social protection is taken to include all initiatives both formal and informal that provide social assistance to extremely poor individuals and households, social services to groups who need special care or would otherwise be denied access to basic services, social insurance to protect people against the risks and consequences of livelihood shocks, and social equity to protect people against social risks such as discrimination and abuse. Fishing-Dependent Communities on the Gulf Coast of Florida Yu Huang, 2004-02-12 U.S. fisheries legislation requires the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) to attend to the critical social and economic issues surrounding the definition and identification of fishing communities and to the effects that changes to the physical environment and regulatory decisions can have on such communities. To fulfil their mandate, the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) sponsored the research entitled Identifying Fishing Communities in the Gulf of Mexico to study the economic, social, and cultural status of potential fishing communities along the Gulf of Mexico. NMFS contracted the research project to Impact Assessment Inc. to study 80 plus potential fishing communities in the Florida Gulf Coast I worked as an intern in the research and visited the communities with other team members The task of our project was to provide NMFS with basic profiles of fishing communities for NMFS to develop a culturally appropriated intervention Research methods include Rapid Assessment Procedures RAP semi structured key informant interviews participant observation and archival and secondary research mainly for community histories Apart from my internship research I also conducted some additional interviews and observations for my thesis My findings indicate that fishing communities along the Florida Gulf Coast encounter with challenge from increased regulation dumping seafood imports and virtually uncontrolled waterfront development By a comparison of three groups of fishing communities i e diminished communities residual communities and resilient communities the thesis explores how communities respond to the challenges and encourages fishermen to take action to preserve their generation long fishing tradition In conclusion the thesis suggests that a solution to ease the decline of fishing communities requires cooperation of all parties concerned including the fishery regulatory agency commercial fishermen and the federal and local government
