Johannessen,2018-05-15 The fourth industrial revolution is developing globally with no geographical centre It is also taking place at enormous speed This development will shape the workplaces of the future which will be entirely different from the workplaces created by the first second and third industrial revolutions Industry created the industrial worker The knowledge society will create a new type of industrial worker the knowledge worker While the third industrial revolution was concerned with the digitalization of work in the fourth industrial revolution robots will bring about the informatization of work Many of these robots will be systematically connected such that they can obtain updated information and learn from their own and others mistakes The way we work where we work what we work on and our relationships with our colleagues and employers are all in a state of change The workplace of the future will not necessarily be a fixed geographical location but may be geographically distributed and functionally divided In his book Jon Arild Johannessen argues that a perfect social storm occurs when inequality grows at a catastrophic rate unemployment increases job security is threatened for a growing number and robotization takes over even the most underpaid jobs Thus the ingredients for a perfect social storm will be brought forward by cascades of innovations that will most likely lead to economic and social crises and he argues that it is reasonable to assume that it will only take a small spark for this social storm to develop into a social revolution East Asia's Strategic Advantage in the Middle East Shirzad Azad,2021-05-07 The modern trajectory of Middle Eastern East Asian interactions has garnered very little scholarly attention and scrutiny The two way connection between both regions have witnessed a litany of activities and developments over the past several decades but such dynamics are yet to be investigated sufficiently in tandem with their overall impacts on the world s safety and well being Aiming to fill part of this acute research gap East Asia s Strategic Advantage in the Middle East concentrates primarily on different aspects of East Asia s modern relationship with the Middle East by turning the spotlight on strategic advantages of East Asian countries in critical areas in the region Over the past several years there have been a slew of talks and debates about the formation of strategic ties between the East Asian states and their counterparts across the Middle East region However East Asia s advantage of strategic nature has been there for decades shaping the contours of an increasingly multifaceted chain of interactions involving the two sides The more other stakeholders Western powers in particular made serious attempts to secure their precious assets in the Middle East the larger East Asia s strategic advantage in the region grew Deglobalization Jon-Arild Johannessen,2023-12-11 The emerging conflict between the US and China has an inherent tendency towards a development of deglobalization It is the historical prerequisites for this deglobalization that are examined in this book These assumptions are largely based on what is termed the second wave of globalization based on increasing technological competition between the US and China as well as China s expansion along the New Silk Road In this book the author makes a distinction between the Old Globalization and the New Globalization The Old Globalization was characterized by competition over costs in general and wage costs in particular while the New Globalization is categorized by new competencies and skills especially technological capabilities and technological innovations The second wave which is driven by technological innovations lays the foundation for a counter strategy on the part of the US to stem the Chinese technological expansion It is this new strategy that confines the second wave of globalization from China and lays the foundation for deglobalization The book analyses US China relations from a fresh perspective namely a systemic thinking approach The focus is the emerging innovation economy which leads to tension and deglobalization The book is grounded in evolutionary economics and uses conceptual generalization in its descriptions analysis theoretical reflections and real world cases The key message is that the economy of the future will be characterized by coordinated wave movements economic growth mainly controlled by private capital alternating with economic downturns that necessitate collective solutions and government interventions The book offers policy suggestions which include promoting effective macroeconomic policies and extending microeconomic cooperation schemes related to the innovation economy
