2. Management Strategies & Organization: structural organization, communication
3. Motivation: dysfunctional behaviour, theories of motivation
4. Leadership: leadership styles, leadership theories
5. Concepts of Management: management theories, management characteristics

1. Functions of Management

1. Planning
2. Organizing
3. Staffing
4. Directing
5. Controlling / evaluating

Planning: determining in advance what should happen → essential for organizing, staffing, directing, and controlling

- Involves setting goals and objectives, policies, procedures and methods
- Characteristics of planning
 - Repetitiveness
 - Standing plans → used repeatedly, provide consistency/predictability
 - Single-use plans → not to be repeated, kept for records
 - To attain specific objectives within short period of time
 - Time span
 - Short range/operational → less than a year (e.g. yearly operating budget)
 - Long-range → greater than 5 years (e.g. building plan)
 - Level of management
 - Top managers → broad comprehensive planning of goals/objectives
 - Middle managers → develop policies
 - First-line → develop methods and procedures
 - Flexibility
 - Longer range planning must be more flexible, rigid planning increases risk of inability to cope with changes

Outcomes

1. Objectives → predetermined, toward which effort directs its efforts
 - Provide direction and serve as motivators
2. Policies → general guides for decision-making, boundaries to operate within
 - i.e. "all customer complaints must be addressed within one day"
3. Procedures → specific guide for daily operations, chronological sequence of activities (i.e. "how to run the dishwasher")
4. Time span
 - Short-range / operational planning → covers period up to a year
 - e.g. operating budget (usually projected in days, weeks, or months)

Flight and Aircraft Engineer, 1957 History at War Noble Frankland, 2012-07-18 History at War is a unique book It throws light on important unexplored aspects of the pursuit of historical truth It tells how alone among historians Noble Frankland fought in the bomber offensive during the Second World War and then together with Sir Charles Webster wrote its official history how he transformed the Imperial War Museum from a dying institution into one of the world s leading historical centres for the study of the conflicts of the twentieth century how he played a major part in television documentary productions including in particular The World at War and how he wrote a series of original rigorously researched historical works In History at War he describes the battles he had to fight against the mandarins and media merchants who sought to impose a spin on history to suit their own ends and were ruthless and unscrupulous in their methods Its meticulous documentation gives a guarantee of authenticity to his staggering account of how those in high places tried to distort history which might otherwise seem scarcely credible The revelations about Bomber Harris relations with his superior Lord Portal during the war and their joint opposition to the two authors account of the strategic air offensive still a highly topical issue will set alight a new debate among military and other historians Unlike most books on the theory and practice of history it does not confine itself to what can be written on the page It also covers Dr Frankland s experience of demonstrating history in museum galleries on the television screen on sites such as Duxford Airfield near Cambridge and on board HMS Belfast in the Pool of London The problem for historians of publishing a full and unbiased account and analysis of controversial events and episodes in politics and international affairs is as acute in the 1990s as it ever has been All readers with a concern for the truth will learn much about such issues from this unflinching and penetrating book Robert Crawford Director General Imperial War Museum it is brilliant rivetingly trenchant and should be required reading for all aspirant historians Professor R B Wernham former Professor of Modern History Oxford It really is a splendid and fascinating story and a sharp warning to historians to beware of mandarins and great commanders In Francis Bacon s categorization Some books are to be tasted some to be swallowed and a few to be chewed and digested It certainly rates among the few Professor Geoffrey Best in TLS The subtitle is exactly right for a book by Noble Frankland a tough character who views the successive phases of his post war life as battles to bring truths and lessons plainly before the public and who can happily conclude that he has been generally successful In at least two fields the history of the most painfully controversial of Allied campaigns in the Second World War and the rescue and make over of the least well known of London s great museums his achievements have been of great national value and importance this astringently truth telling professional autobiography required reading for historians of the British Establishment from Attlee to Macmillan Piers Mackesey Fellow of British Academy and former Fellow of Pembroke College Oxford I admired History at War on many levels characterizations of Webster Bradley Willis etc the balance between Museum Trustees and the chief executive functioning of Civil Service Bomber Command the picture of Noble Frankland s developing career and the qualities it called for etc I often laughed aloud at the wit and the penetrating observations of functioning individuals Also much enjoyed final reflections on history by a practitioner Haven t enjoyed a book so much for ages Flight International ,1969 Seapower Geoffrey Till,2018-06-19 This is the fourth revised and updated edition of Geoffrey Till s Seapower A Guide for the Twenty first Century The rise of the Chinese and other Asian navies worsening quarrels over maritime jurisdiction and the United States maritime pivot towards the Asia Pacific region reminds us that the sea has always been central to human development as a source of resources and as a means of transportation information exchange and strategic dominion It has provided the basis for mankind s prosperity and security and this is even more true in the early twenty first century with the emergence of an increasingly globalised world trading system Navies have always provided a way of policing and sometimes exploiting the system In contemporary conditions navies and other forms of maritime power are having to adapt in order to exert the maximum power ashore in the company of others and to expand the range of their interests activities and responsibilities While these new tasks are developing fast traditional ones still predominate Deterrence remains the first duty of today s navies backed up by the need to fight and win if necessary How navies and their states balance these two imperatives will tell us a great deal about our future in this increasingly maritime century This book investigates the consequences of all this for the developing nature composition and functions of all the world s significant navies and provides a guide for anyone interested in the changing and crucial role of seapower in the twenty first century Seapower is essential reading for all students of naval power maritime security and naval history and highly recommended for students of strategic studies international security and international relations
