A Critical Essay on Modern Macroeconomic Theory Frank Hahn, Robert M. A. W. H. Phillips: Collected Works in Contemporary Perspective Alban William Housego Phillips, 2000-08-03 Virtually all of contemporary macroeconomics is underpinned by a Phillips curve of one variety or another yet most of this literature displays a curious neglect of the theoretical dynamic stabilisation perspective provided by A W H Phillips This 2000 volume collected for the first time the major work of one of the great economists integrating Phillips's empirical work with his theoretical contribution. In addition to twelve substantive chapters, twenty-nine economists including Lawrence Klein, James Meade, Thomas Sargent, Peter Phillips, David Hendry, William Baumol, Richard Lipsey, and Geoffrey Harcourt highlight and interpret Phillips's ongoing influence. This volume also contains six of Phillips's previously unpublished essays, four of which were thought to have been lost. The fifth such essay, Phillips's second empirical Phillips curve, was previously an informal working paper of which few copies circulated, and the sixth essay is a forerunner of the Lucas Critique, written by Phillips shortly before his death.

Fact and Fiction in Economics Maki, 2002-12-12 There is an embarrassing polarization of opinions about the status of economics as an academic discipline, as reflected in epithets such as the Dismal Science and the Queen of the Social Sciences. This collection brings together some of the leading figures in the methodology and philosophy of economics to provide a thoughtful and balanced overview of the current state of debate about the nature and limits of economic knowledge. Authors with partly rival and partly complementary perspectives examine how abstract models work and how they might connect with the real world; they look at the special nature of the facts about the economy and they direct attention towards the academic institutions themselves and how they shape economic research. These issues are thus analysed from the point of view of methodology, semantics, ontology, rhetoric, sociology, and economics of science.

Words, Objects and Events in Economics Peter Róna, László Zsolnai, Agnieszka Wincewicz-Price, 2020-09-03 This open access book examines from a variety of perspectives the disappearance of moral content and ethical judgment from the models employed in the formulation of modern economic theory, and some of the papers contain important proposals about how moral judgment could be reintroduced in economic theory. The chapters collected in this volume result from the favorable reception of the first volume of the Virtues in Economics series and represent further contributions to the themes set out in that volume: i) examining the philosophical and methodological fallacies of this turn in modern economic theory that the removal of the moral motivation of economic agents from modern economic theory has entailed, and ii) proposing a return descriptive economics as the means with which the moral content of economic life could be restored in economic theory This book is of interest to researchers and students of the methodology of economics ethics philosophers concerned with agency and economists who build economic models that rest in the intention of the agent On Skidelsky's Keynes and Other Essays G.
