

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a landscape. In the foreground, there is a dense, dark green field of low-lying vegetation. In the middle ground, there are rolling hills or mountains covered in similar vegetation, appearing in shades of green and blue. The sky is a pale, hazy blue. A large, dark, silhouetted tree branch with intricate leaf patterns hangs down from the top right corner, partially obscuring the sky and the hills.

Critical Studies Of Southern Place A Reader Counterpoints:

Critical Studies of Southern Place William M. Reynolds, 2014 Critical Studies of Southern Place A Reader critically investigates and informs the construction of Southernness Southern identity and the South past and present Authors from across the South write about such diverse topics as Southern working class culture LGBT issues in the South Southern music Southern reality television race and ethnicity in the South religion in the South and more Forgotten Places William M. Reynolds, 2017 Forgotten Places Critical Studies in Rural Education critically investigates and informs the construction of the rural rural identity and the understanding of the rural internationally This book promotes and expands the notion of critical understandings of rural education particularly in the areas of race class gender and LGBTQ with conceptualizations of social justice While there have been many volumes written on critical issues in urban education only a small number have been produced on rural education and the majority of those are not critical By contrast Forgotten Places not only discusses schools in the country but also expands conceptualizations of the rural beyond schools and place as well as beyond the borders of the United States It also tackles the artificial duality between conceptualizations of urban and rural Forgotten Places includes scholarly investigations into the connections among the symbolic order various forms of cultural artifacts and multiple readings of these artifacts within the context of critical transformational pedagogy This book fills a significant gap in the scholarly work on the ramifications of the rural Teachers as Researchers (Classic Edition) Joe Kincheloe, 2012-01-30

Teachers as Researchers urges teachers as both producers and consumers of knowledge to engage in the debate about educational research by undertaking meaningful research themselves Teachers are being encouraged to carry out research in order to improve their effectiveness in the classroom but this book suggests that they also reflect on and challenge the reductionist and technicist methods that promote a top down system of education It argues that only by engaging in complex critical research will teachers rediscover their professional status empower their practice in the classroom and improve the quality of education for their pupils Now re released to introduce this classic guide for teachers the new edition of Teachers as Researchers now also includes an introductory chapter by Shirley R Steinberg that sets the book within the context of both the subject and the historical perspective In addition she also provides information on some key writing that extends the bibliography of this influential book thereby bringing the material fully up to date with current research Postgraduate students of education and experienced teachers will find much to inspire and encourage them in this definitive book

Conflict and Counterpoint in Lesbian, Gay, and Feminist Studies J. Foertsch, 2007-05-14 Interrogating a broad array of lesbian gay and feminist theories this book considers instances of unnecessarily divisive turf battling yet focuses primarily on the productive debates that define and vitalize the field Reader's Guide to Literature in English Mark Hawkins-Dady, 2012-12-06 Reader's Guide Literature in English provides expert guidance to and critical analysis of the vast number of books available within the subject of English literature from Anglo Saxon times to the current American British and Commonwealth scene It is designed to help students teachers and librarians choose the most appropriate books for research and study

Critical Feeling Rolf Reber, 2016-03-10 How can we develop the sensitivity necessary for playing music or making crafts How can teachers make their lessons interesting In what ways can consumers avoid undue influence How do we acquire refined tastes or come to believe what we want to believe Addressing these issues and providing an account for tackling personal and societal problems Rolf Reber combines insights from psychology philosophy and education to introduce the concept of critical feeling While many people are familiar with the concept of critical thinking critical feeling denotes the strategic use of feelings in order to optimize an outcome Reber discusses the theoretical and empirical foundations of critical feeling and provides an overview of applications including well being skill learning personal relationships business politics school art morality and religion This original and thought provoking study will interest a broad range of researchers students and practitioners

Sinophone Studies Shu-mei Shih, Chien-hsin Tsai, Brian Bernards, 2013-01-22 This definitive anthology casts Sinophone studies as the study of Sinitic language cultures born of colonial and postcolonial influences Essays by such authors as Rey Chow Ha Jin Leo Ou fan Lee Ien Ang Wei ming Tu and David Wang address debates concerning the nature of Chineseness while introducing readers to essential readings in Tibetan Malaysian Taiwanese French Caribbean and American Sinophone literatures By placing Sinophone cultures at the crossroads of multiple empires this anthology richly demonstrates the transformative power of multiculturalism and multilingualism and by examining the place based cultural and social practices of Sinitic language communities in their historical contexts beyond China proper it effectively refutes the diasporic framework It is an invaluable companion for courses in Asian postcolonial empire and ethnic studies as well as world and comparative literature

Urban Inclusivity in Southern Africa Hangwelani H. Magidimisha-Chipungu, Lovemore Chipungu, 2021-09-28 This book's point of departure rests on the premises that dimensions of the mainstream inclusive city discourse fail to capture in detail vulnerable clusters of society being women children and the aging the minority clusters i.e. the blind the disabled and migrants In addition it fails to recognize the increase of spatial inequality driven by racial and class differences a factor that has seen an increase in community violence and protests The focus on spatial inequality has for a long time blindfolded urban authorities to ignore exclusion arising out of the same environments created with a notion of creating inclusivity Hence this book collapses spatial walls as it seeks to uncover the true perspectives of inclusivity in cities beyond spatial dimensions but within social realms The depth of this book's enquiry rests on its critical investigation of Southern African cities through historical epochs of apartheid and colonialism in the region

Museums and the Paradox of Change Robert R. Janes, 2013-05-29 Museums throughout the world are under increasing pressure in the wake of the 2008-2009 economic recession and the many pressing social and environmental issues that are assuming priority The major focus of concern in the global museum community is the sustainability of museums in light of these pressures not to mention falling attendance and the challenges of the digital world

Museums and the Paradox of Change provides a detailed account of how a major Canadian museum suffered a 40 percent loss in its operating budget and went on to become the most financially self sufficient of the ten largest museums in Canada. This book is the most detailed case study of its kind and is indispensable for students and practitioners alike. It is also the most incisive published account of organizational change within a museum in part because it is honest, open, and reflexive. Janes is the first to bring perspectives drawn from complexity science into the discussion of organizational change in museums and he introduces the key concepts of complexity, uncertainty, nonlinearity, emergence, chaos, and paradox. This revised and expanded third edition also includes new writing on strengthening museum management as well as reflections on new opportunities and hazards for museums. It concludes with six ethical responsibilities for museum leaders and managers to consider. Janes provides pragmatic solutions grounded in a theoretical context and highlights important issues in the management of museums that cannot be ignored.

The Epistemological Skyhook Jim Slagle, 2016-05-20 Throughout philosophical history there has been a recurring argument to the effect that determinism, naturalism, or both are self-referentially incoherent. By accepting determinism or naturalism, one allegedly acquires a reason to reject determinism or naturalism. The Epistemological Skyhook brings together for the first time the principal expressions of this argument, focusing primarily on the last 150 years. This book addresses the versions of this argument as presented by Arthur Lovejoy, A. E. Taylor, Kurt G. del C. S. Lewis, Norman Malcolm, Karl Popper, J. R. Lucas, William Hasker, Thomas Nagel, Alvin Plantinga, and others, along with the objections presented by their many detractors. It concludes by presenting a new version of the argument that synthesizes the best aspects of the others while also rendering the argument immune to some of the most significant objections made to it.
