Descriptive Translation Studies And Beyond Revised Edition Benjamins Translation Library:

Descriptive Translation Studies and Beyond Gideon Toury, 1995 A replacement of the author's well known book on Translation Theory In Search of a Theory of Translation 1980 this book makes a case for Descriptive Translation Studies as a scholarly activity as well as a branch of the discipline having immediate consequences for issues of both a theoretical and applied nature Methodological discussions are complemented by an assortment of case studies of various scopes and levels with emphasis on the need to contextualize whatever one sets out to focus on Part One deals with the position of descriptive studies within TS and justifies the author's choice to devote a whole book to the subject Part Two gives a detailed rationale for descriptive studies in translation and serves as a framework for the case studies comprising Part Three Concrete descriptive issues are here tackled within ever growing contexts of a higher level texts and modes of translational behaviour in the appropriate cultural setup textual components in texts and through these texts in cultural constellations Part Four asks the question What is knowledge accumulated through descriptive studies performed within one and the same framework likely to yield in terms of theory and practice This is an excellent book for higher level translation courses

Descriptive Translation Studies - and beyond Gideon Toury, 2012-11-21 This is an expanded and slightly revised version of the book of the same title which caused quite a stir when it was first published 1995 It thus reflects an additional step in an ongoing research project which was launched in the 1970s The main objective is to transcend the limitations of using descriptive methods as a mere ancillary tool and place a proper branch of DTS at the very heart of the discipline between the theoretical and the applied branches Throughout the book theoretical and methodological discussions are illustrated by an assortment of case studies the emphasis being on the need to take whatever one wishes to focus on within the contexts which are relevant to it Part One discusses the pivotal position of the descriptive branch within Translation Studies and Part Two then outlines a detailed rationale for that positioning This in turn supplies a framework for the case studies comprising Part Three where a number of exemplary issues are analysed and contextualized texts and modes of translational behaviour are situated in their cultural setting and textual components are related to their texts and then also to the cultural constellations in which they are embedded All this leads to Part Four which asks what the knowledge accumulated through descriptive studies of the kind advocated in the book is likely to yield in terms of both the theoretical and the applied branches of the field All in all an innovative thought provoking book which no one with a keen interest in translation can afford to ignore

LXX Song of Songs and Descriptive Translation Studies Dries De Crom, 2019-01-21 Dries De Crom intends to stimulate the cross fertilization of Septuagint Studies and Translation Studies particularly the theoretical framework of Descriptive Translation Studies DTS It engages with concepts and theories from DTS in order to demonstrate their applicability to the study of the Septuagint The aim is not to replace the established methods of Septuagint Studies but rather to show that they are fully compatible with descriptive approaches to translation The greater part of the volume is dedicated to a meticulous verse by verse comparison between the LXX and MT texts of Song of Songs As there is at present no full critical edition of the Greek texts of Song of Songs due attention is given to the most important witnesses to the pre Hexaplaric text The textual study engages with matters of translation technique textual criticism linguistic interference and the interpretation of LXX Song of Songs On the basis of this textual analysis the volume explores the question of Kaige Theodotion and LXX Song of Song s relation to it as well as the peculiar textual linguistic profile of LXX Songs of Songs against the background of translational norms interference interlanguage and literary code

Beyond Descriptive Translation Studies Anthony Pym, Miriam Shlesinger, Daniel Simeoni, 2008-03-13 To go beyond the work of a leading intellectual is rarely an unambiguous tribute However when Gideon Toury founded Descriptive Translation Studies as a research based discipline he laid down precisely that intellectual challenge not just to describe translation but to explain it through reference to wider relations That call offers at once a common base an open and multidirectional ambition and many good reasons for unambiguous tribute The authors brought together in this volume include key players in Translation Studies who have responded to Toury s challenge in one way or another Their diverse contributions address issues such as the sociology of translators contemporary changes in intercultural relations the fundamental problem of defining translations the nature of explanation and case studies including pseudotranslation in Renaissance Italy Sherlock Holmes in Turkey and the coffee and sugar economy in Brazil All acknowledge Translation Studies as a research based space for conceptual coherence and creativity all seek to explain as well as describe In this sense we believe that Toury s call has been answered beyond expectations

Textual and Contextual Voices of Translation Cecilia Alvstad, Annjo K. Greenall, Hanne Jansen, Kristiina Taivalkoski-Shilov, 2017-10-15 The notion of voice has been used in a number of ways within Translation Studies Against the backdrop of these different uses this book looks at the voices of translators authors publishers editors and readers both in the translations themselves and in the texts that surround these translations The various authors go on a hunt for translational agents voice imprints in a variety of textual and contextual material such as literary and non literary translations book reviews newspaper articles academic texts and e mails While all stick to the principle of studying text and context together the different contributions also demonstrate how specific textual and contextual circumstances require adapted methodological solutions ending up in a collection that takes steps in a joint direction but that is at the same time complex and pluralistic The book is intended for scholars and students of Translation Studies Comparative Literature and other disciplines within Language and Literature

English Translations of Shuihu Zhuan Yunhong Wang, 2020-05-09 This book offers a novel perspective on the intersection of translation and narration in literary translation by investigating how three translations of Shuihu Zhuan present the original narrative mode to the target readership in terms of four narrative elements voice commentary point of view and motif in different periods of history It not only validates but also quantifies the differences in strategy making patterns between translators as well as between different narratological categories The established theoretical frameworks including a narrative descriptive model and a sociological explanatory framework and the data collected may provide methodological and empirical support for further studies on shifts of narrative features in translation The tendencies manifested by different translators and identified by the study may also shed new light on the teaching and learning of translation skills The book offers a valuable reference guide for scholars practitioners translators and graduate students in the fields of e g language translation literature and cultural studies and for anyone with an interest in Chinese classical literature Chinese English translation narrative studies or cross cultural studies
