Global Forest Governance and Climate Change Emmanuel O. Nuesiri, 2018-03-07 This edited collection assesses governance in forestry programmes and projects including REDD governance It examines political representation participation and decentralisation in forest governance providing insight as to how forest governance arrangements can be responsive to the socio economic interests of local people and communities who live adjacent to and depend on forests Global Forest Governance and Climate Change argues that inclusive complementary representation of local communities is required for strong participatory processes and democratic decentralisation of forest governance Responsiveness to local people's socio economic interests in forestry initiatives require paying attention to not just the hosting of participatory meetings and activities but also to the full cast of appointed self authorized and elected representative agents that stand speak and act for local people This book will be of interest to students and academics across the fields of climate change governance forestry development studies and political economy It will also be a useful resource for policy makers and practitioners responsible for forestry and climate change initiatives

Climate Change and Critical Agrarian Studies Ian Scoones, Saturnino M. Borras Jr., Amita Baviskar, Marc Edelman, Nancy Lee Peluso, Wendy Wolford, 2023-11-30 Climate change is perhaps the greatest threat to humanity today and plays out as a cruel engine of myriad forms of injustice violence and destruction The effects of climate change from human made emissions of greenhouse gases are devastating and accelerating yet are uncertain and uneven both in terms of geography and socio economic impacts Emerging from the dynamics of capitalism since the industrial revolution as well as industrialisation under state led socialism the consequences of climate change are especially profound for the countryside and its inhabitants The book interrogates the narratives and strategies that frame climate change and examines the institutionalised responses in agrarian settings highlighting what exclusions and inclusions result It explores how different people in relation to class and other co constituted axes of social difference such as gender race ethnicity age and occupation are affected by climate change as well as the climate adaptation and mitigation responses being implemented in rural areas The book in turn explores how climate change and the responses to it affect processes of social differentiation trajectories of accumulation and in turn agrarian politics Finally the book examines what strategies are required to confront climate change and the underlying political economic dynamics that cause it reflecting on what this means for agrarian struggles across the world The 26 chapters in this volume explore how the relationship between capitalism and climate change plays out in the rural world and in particular the way agrarian struggles connect with the huge challenge of climate change Through a huge variety of case studies alongside more conceptual chapters the book makes the often missing connection between climate change and critical agrarian studies The book argues that making the connection between climate and agrarian justice is crucial The chapters in this book were originally published in The Journal of Peasant Studies The Open Access version of this book available at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/oa-edit/10.4324/9781003467960/climate-change-critical-agrarian-studies-ian-scoones-saturnino-borras-jr-amita-baviskar-marc-edelman-nancy-lee-peluso-wendy-wolford> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license A version of the open access title is also available on the OAPEN platform <https://library.oapen.org/handle/20.500.12657/85297>

The Political Economy of Climate Finance: Lessons from International Development

Corrine Cash, Larry A. Swatuk, 2022-10-05 This project breaks disciplinary silos by bringing those who work in climate finance and policy together with development scholars and practitioners to share lessons understanding and research with an overall goal of making a contribution to the climate change field so that those at the community level benefit from the multitude of programmes designed for climate impacts For some 70 years International Development specialists have been developing programs and delivering funds to those who most need assistance There is a wealth of knowledge to be uncovered by examining the international development industry for those who are now tasked with delivering climate finance The academic policy and practitioner communities have spent decades researching examining and analyzing both development policies and finance independent of each This volume will seek to bring that research together

One Health Kevin Bardosh, 2016-02-12 Zoonotic diseases pathogens transmitted from animals to people offer particularly challenging problems for global health institutions and actors given the complex social ecological dynamics at play New forms of risk caused by unprecedented global connectivity and rapid social and environmental change demand new approaches One Health highlights the need for collaboration across sectors and disciplines to tackle zoonotic diseases However there has been little exploration of how social political and economic contexts influence efforts to do One Health This book fills this gap by offering a much needed political economy analysis of zoonosis research and policy Through ethnographic qualitative and quantitative data the book draws together a diverse number of case studies These include chapters exploring global narratives about One Health operationalization and prevailing institutional bottlenecks the evolution of research networks over time and the histories and politics behind conflicting disease control approaches The themes from these chapters are further contextualized and expanded upon through country specific case studies from Kenya Zambia Nigeria Ghana and Sierra Leone exploring the translation of One Health research and policy into the African context This book is a valuable resource for academic researchers students and policy practitioners in the areas of global health agriculture and development

Sustainable Finance and Business in Sub-Saharan Africa David Mhlanga, Mufaro Dzingirai, 2024-12-13 In the 21st century the imperative for sustainable development has assumed a paramount role echoing the pressing global concerns surrounding environmental degradation social inequalities and economic challenges Within this context Sub Saharan Africa emerges as a region of particular significance where the pursuit of sustainability holds immense promise and relevance Despite being endowed with abundant natural resources and a vibrant entrepreneurial spirit Sub Saharan Africa grapples with enduring issues of poverty inequality and environmental harm This book explores the innovative paradigms of sustainable finance and business within Sub Saharan Africa exploring how novel approaches can effectively tackle the region's most pressing challenges while simultaneously catalyzing economic growth and societal progress The chapters presented here comprise a diverse array of cutting edge financial strategies circular economy initiatives technological advancements and business models that are revolutionizing sustainable development across the continent Sub Saharan Africa characterized by its youthful demographic and rapidly expanding economies is poised for transformation Yet it confronts formidable obstacles in the form of poverty inequality and environmental degradation The United Nations Sustainable Development Goals SDGs offer a comprehensive framework to address these issues However realizing these objectives requires innovative solutions that can surmount the unique constraints of the region Fortunately Sub Saharan Africa is a crucible of innovation with a growing community of entrepreneurs financiers and decision makers committed to sustainable development Initiatives promoting circular economies are reducing waste and enhancing resource efficiency while financial instruments like impact investing and green bonds are attracting new streams of funding Simultaneously technological breakthroughs such as mobile payment systems and renewable energy solutions are expanding access to essential services and driving economic expansion Despite these encouraging advancements Sub Saharan Africa stands at a pivotal juncture in its journey towards sustainability This book with a focus on practical and scalable solutions endeavors to showcase the most promising and successful models that can propel sustainable development across the region

Miombo Woodlands in a Changing Environment: Securing the Resilience and Sustainability of People and Woodlands Natasha S. Ribeiro, Yemi Katerere, Paxie W. Chirwa, Isla M. Grundy, 2020-09-16 Based on work by the Miombo Network in southern Africa this book helps decision makers and general readers alike improve their understanding of the socio ecology of the Miombo woodlands across southern Africa It also highlights the importance of and the need for further research on the unique Miombo ecology and its link with economic development One major challenge facing these woodlands is the influence that direct both natural and anthropogenic and indirect drivers of change as well as interactions between these have had over the centuries As such the book explores the socio economic and ecological interactions that occur in these woodlands and discusses the need for further research to provide a better understanding of these interactions Drawing on data and information from numerous studies conducted in the last 20 years the book presents a comparative analysis of policy changes and management experiences in the countries concerned It also addresses issues of global climate change since they have an impact on Miombo ecosystem management and restoration and provides future projections based on an assessment of how climate change has affected the Miombo woodlands in the past The Politics of Green Transformations Ian Scoones, Melissa Leach, Peter Newell, 2015-01-09

Multiple green transformations are required if humanity is to live sustainably on planet Earth Recalling past transformations this book examines what makes the current challenge different and especially urgent It examines how green transformations must take place in the context of the particular moments of capitalist development and in relation to particular alliances The role of the state is emphasised both in terms of the type of incentives required to make green transformations politically feasible and the way states must take a developmental role in financing innovation and technology for green transformations The book also highlights the role of citizens as innovators entrepreneurs green consumers and members of social movements Green transformations must be both top down involving elite alliances between states and business but also bottom up pushed by grassroots innovators and entrepreneurs and part of wider mobilisations among civil society The chapters in the book draw on international examples to emphasise how contexts matter in shaping pathways to sustainability Written by experts in the field this book will be of great interest to researchers and students in environmental studies international relations political science development studies geography and anthropology as well as policymakers and practitioners concerned with sustainability
