Carbon-Neutral Architectural Design Pablo M. La Roche, 2024-05-31 The energy used to build and operate buildings is a significant source of greenhouse gas emissions While it is possible to reduce emissions through low carbon design many architects are not trained to do this Filling an urgent need for a design reference in this emerging field this book describes how to reduce building related greenhouse gas emissions through appropriate design techniques It presents strategies to achieve CO2 reductions with an emphasis on control of energy flows through the building envelope and passive cooling and heating strategies This new revised edition is updated throughout and includes a new section on embodied carbon and new chapters on daylighting and nature based cooling Features Adds new chapters on daylighting and nature based cooling with numerous updates throughout the rest of the chapters Presents strategies illustrated with examples for new construction and existing buildings to reduce energy consumption and reduce emissions Explains the origins of CO2 emissions associated with the operation and fabrication of buildings supplying water disposing of waste from the building and proposes strategies to reduce them Covers carbon calculations thermal comfort indigenous technology climate responsive design passive cooling and heating solar design air flow analysis daylighting building simulation and microclimate design with abundant examples Examines siting location to design buildings that adapt and mitigate their effect on climate change Carbon-Neutral

Architectural Design Pablo M. La Roche, 2017-07-14 The energy used to operate buildings is one of the most significant sources of greenhouse gas emissions While it is possible to reduce emissions through climate responsive design many architects are not trained to do this Filling an urgent need for a design reference in this emerging field this book describes how to reduce building related greenhouse gas emissions through appropriate design techniques It presents strategies to achieve CO2 reductions with an emphasis on control of energy flows through the building envelope and passive heating and cooling strategies This new revised edition is updated throughout and includes a new chapter on building simulations

Carbon-Neutral Architectural Design Pablo M. La Roche, 2011-12-15 The energy used to operate buildings is one of the most significant sources of greenhouse gas emissions To lessen the human impact on climate it is necessary to reduce these building related emissions New legislation as well as market and financial pressures are driving architects and developers to create low carbon buildings While it is possible to achieve many of these reductions through appropriate climate responsive design many architects are not trained to do this Filling an urgent need for a design reference in this emerging field Carbon Neutral Architectural Design describes how to reduce building related greenhouse gas emissions through appropriate design techniques This full color book presents strategies and methods to achieve CO2 reductions with an emphasis on control of energy flows through the building envelope and passive heating and cooling strategies Strategies for Designing Buildings with a Smaller Carbon Footprint Examining climate change and its relationship with buildings the book begins with a look at the sources of emissions and how these are produced as a result of interactions between buildings and the surrounding environment It then introduces a carbon neutral architectural design process CNDP and a roadmap that can be adjusted for different types of projects Discussing climate analysis and solar geometry the book explores how understanding the climate where a building is located helps to identify the design strategies that are best suited to that location whether warm and humid warm and dry temperate or cold It looks at psychrometrics and how to achieve thermal comfort with minimum emissions The book also explains how building fabric can be used to control energy flows by conduction radiation and convection helping to reduce overheating and overcooling and how to incorporate passive cooling and heating systems through appropriate design The book includes useful references equations and illustrations as well as a comparison of free carbon counting tools that can be used for residential building design Drawing on the author s extensive experience in teaching and practice this is a valuable resource for anyone who wants to reduce the carbon footprint of buildings Find more study resources at the American Institute of Architects Carbon Neutral Design Project web site What s next for green building See what Dr La Roche has to say in this video on the HMC Architects blog Teaching Carbon Neutral Design in North America Robin Z. Puttock, 2025-03-12 This book brings to light a diverse range of innovative architectural design studio methodologies formulated to educate future graduates to combat the climate crisis through carbon neutral design Award winning professors detail tried and tested studio methodologies outlining their philosophical rationale the role of precedent study design concept and professional partnerships the approach to analytics and software design development required readings assignment and student work examples and anticipated future innovation Chapters are grouped under varying focal points including community empowerment bioclimatic response performance analytics design build and urban scale all adopting a holistic view of sustainable design that incorporates technical challenges as well as those of equity and social justice This heterogeneous compilation of strategies encourages wide accessibility to and acceptance by studio professors as well as administrators and faculty developing architecture curricula This will in turn maximize the impact on curtailing carbon emissions resulting from the construction and operations of our built environment

Carbon Matti Kuittinen, Alan Organschi, Andrew Ruff, 2022-09-07 A comprehensive approach to design that integrates sustainable principles and design strategies for decarbonized construction Representing an international collaboration between academics and architects in the United States and Europe Carbon A Field Manual for Designers and Builders offers professionals in the field an approach to sustainable design that embraces building science principles life cycle analysis and design strategies in carbon neutral construction The book also contains background information on carbon in construction materials and in the building design process This book is filled with illustrative diagrams and drawings that help evaluate the potential impact of design decisions for creating carbon emissions Written by and for designers and builders the book includes a compelling pair of case studies that explore carbon reducing strategies suggests steps for assessing a building s carbon footprint and reviews carbon storages and circulation of materials The guidelines detailed in the book can be adopted replicated and deployed to reduce carbon emissions and create more sustainable buildings This important book Offers an effective approach to sustainable design in construction Integrates building science principles life cycle analysis and design strategies in carbon neutral construction Describes a methodology for quantifying the flow of carbon in the built environment Provides an analysis of carbon reducing strategies based on a case study of a building designed by the authors Written for practicing professionals in architecture and construction Carbon A Field Guide for Designers and Builders is a must have resource for professionals who are dedicated to creating sustainable projects

Design Studio Vol. 1: Everything Needs to Change Sofie Pelsmakers,Nick Newman,2021-03-31 Want to keep up with emerging design thinking and issues worldwide Design Studio is a new thematic series that distils the most topical work and ideas from schools and practices globally The first volume launches with a statement Everything Needs to Change Exploring architecture and the climate emergency editors Sofie Pelsmakers author of Environmental Design Sourcebook and Nick Newman climate activist and Director at Studio Bark are channelling the message of Greta Thunberg to inspire enthuse and inform the next generation of architects Featuring articles building profiles and case studies from a range of leading voices it explores solutions to climatic environmental and social challenges It urges readers to radically rethink what it means to be an architect in an era of climate crisis and what the role of the architect is or can be Discover how using local materials working with nature radical design processes transformative learning and activism can help us find hope in the burning world Together we can force change for a more sustainable and equitable tomorrow This first volume is produced in four unique fluorescent colours green red yellow and purple to be your own poster for change

Architecture in a Climate of Change Peter Frederick Smith,2001 Focusing on the recently introduced compulsory course element on sustainability in architecture the book outlines all of the arguments and provides a comprehensive source of information The author s insider knowledge of the curriculum structure provides you with an invaluable companion to the new section of the course work An outline seminar is included allowing the student to relate the theories of sustainability to the practice of study The professional will also benefit from its focus on the practical translation of sustainable theory He calls for changes in the way we build For change to be widely accepted there have to be convincing reasons why long established practices should be replaced In the first part of the book he sets out those reasons by arguing that there is convincing evidence that climate changes now under way are primarily due to human activity in releasing carbon dioxide into the atmosphere Buildings are particularly implicated in this process and so it is appropriate that the design and construction process should be a prime target in the war against catastrophic climate change The book is designed to promote a creative partnership between the professions to produce buildings which achieve optimum conditions for their inhabitants whilst making minimum demands on fossil based energy Peter Smith has written extensively on the subject and is well known in the field He is responsible for introducing the compulsory sustainable element of the course in the UK He is Chairman of the RIBA Environment and Energy Committee the RIBA Sustainable Features Committee and Vice

Chairman of the Sustainable Development Committee Learn about the principles of sustainability and the future of its technology Gain a valuable insight into the relationship between the physical and cultural context of architecture Benefit from the inside knowledge and expertise of the author Sustainable Architectural Design Kuppaswamy

Iyengar, 2015-05-15 This book is a guide to a sustainable design process that moves from theory to site and energy use to building systems and finally to evaluation and case studies so you can integrate design and technology for effective sustainable building Kuppaswamy Iyengar shows you how to get it right the first time use free energy systems and utilise technologies that minimize fossil fuel use Each chapter has a sustainable design overview technical details and strategies marked by clear sections a summary and further resources Heavily illustrated with charts tables drawings photographs and case studies the book shows technologies and concepts integrated into cohesive project types from small and large office spaces to single and multiuse residences hospitals schools restaurants and warehouses to demonstrate implementing your designs to meet clients needs now and for the future Includes an overview of alternate assessment and evaluation systems such as BREEAM CASBEE GBTool Green Globes alongside LEED ECOTECT energy 10 HEED and eQuest simulation programs The guide reveals the importance of the building envelope walls superstructure insulation windows floors roofs and building materials on the environmental impact of a building and has a section on site systems examining site selection landscape design thermal impact and building placement Towards Carbon Neutral Housing Yazmin Hurtado

McGinnis, University of North Carolina at Charlotte. College of Architecture, 2007 Today the phrase global warming is everywhere and as architects our response is to make sustainable buildings The idea of designing a carbon neutral building started with a different proposal build a house without mechanical systems in North Carolina After some research the phrase carbon neutral appeared describing a development called BedZed in Sutton London Carbon neutral means that the building would not release any CO superscript 2 or any other greenhouse gas that depletes the ozone layer and contributes to global warming As a result the research took a different prospective and the design changed from a single family house to student housing The design of a Carbon neutral student housing was developed in 4 tasks beginning with the development of a rating system based on the carbon neutral concept This rating system would address the design process setting the guidelines strategies and parameters for the residential housing through its final evaluation Taking BedZed as well as other buildings the common characteristics that they share is that all of them have based their design on passive solar strategies Following the criteria for passive solar design with the aim to fill the categories of the rating system the design of the student housing began with the master plan then floor plans elevations sections and details Another goal of the design was to use each piece of the building as a tool to reach carbon neutrality that is why the implementation of PV panels at the early stage of the design was essential as well as certain changes in architectural elements like the hallway bridge At the end the building will be evaluated applying the rating system closing the loop of this process that started with this document Carbon Neutral
