

Character Traits

can be inferred by analyzing...

Feelings

When Seth saw the pile of junk, a feeling of excitement bubbled up inside him. He couldn't wait to begin building the object he was imagining.

We can infer that Seth is creative.

Dialogue

"This is how we're going to split the work," Daniela said sternly. "I'll work on the poster while you two work on what we're going to say for the presentation."

We can infer that Daniela is bossy.

Actions

Brandon glanced at his math assignment and sighed. It would take too long to do these five story problems. He quickly scribbled some random numbers on the lines and slammed his book shut. Done.

We can infer that Brandon is lazy.

Thoughts

Kelly wondered what would happen if she told her dad that her mom said the sleepover was okay, and if she told her mom that her dad had already approved the sleepover. Kelly grinned. I think it will work!

We can infer that Kelly is devious.

How to Love Teaching Again Jamie Sears, 2023-04-04 A heartfelt hands on guide to setting boundaries increasing productivity and finding fulfillment for teachers who know that their classrooms won't thrive unless they do Over time teachers internalize myths about their success that cause them to fall out of love with teaching I ll never be one of the perfect teachers My self worth is defined by my students test scores The only way to get it all done is to work on weekends How to Love Teaching Again kicks these myths to the curb and replaces them with practical tips to defeat burnout overcome perfectionism and restore the joy of teaching As the CEO of Not So Wimpy Teacher one of the most popular teaching resource brands on the internet Jamie Sears has spent years designing tools and inventing strategies that restore the joys of teaching This book offers simple step by step strategies that have helped thousands of teachers around the country transform their relationship with work including Reinventing small groups and centers so that they re easier to manage and so you don t feel like you re spread thin A foolproof productivity system just for teachers including a life saving method for batching lesson plans Scripts for establishing boundaries that will drastically reduce the time you spend lesson planning responding to emails and planning extracurriculars Our education environment is often stacked against teachers from insufficient funding and mandatory meetings to red tape and standardized testing Drawing on real life struggles from the teachers who have used Sears strategies to overcome burnout and make the most of their time How To Love Teaching Again will give you specific steps to stop drowning in to dos and do the work that inspires you The Moral of the Story Bobby Norfolk, Sherry Norfolk, 2006 Throughout history traditional cultures have recognized the role of storytelling in teaching values to children This user friendly hands on guide to using storytelling and folktales in character education provides not only a rationale for this approach it includes stories These twelve stories are fun time and audience tested and accessible to a wide range of listeners from preschool to high school The tales are enhanced by suggested activities or informal lesson plans source notes and extensive bibliographies that point the reader to additional sources of folktales suitable for character education Book jacket Ethics Across the Curriculum—Pedagogical Perspectives Elaine E. Englehardt, Michael S. Pritchard, 2018-05-08 This book features articles by more than twenty experienced teachers of ethics who are committed to the idea that ethics can and should be taught virtually anywhere in the education curriculum They explore a variety of ways in which this might best be done Traditionally confined largely to programs in philosophy and religion the teaching of ethics has in recent decades spread across the curriculum education The contributors to this book discuss the rationale for supporting such efforts the variety of challenges these efforts face and the sorts of benefits faculty and students who participate in ethics across the curriculum endeavors can expect An overriding theme of this book is that the teaching of ethics should not be restricted to one or two courses in philosophy or religion programs but rather be addressed wherever relevant anywhere in the curriculum For example accredited engineering programs are expected to ensure that their students are introduced to the ethical dimensions of engineering This can involve consideration of ethical issues within particular areas of engineering e g civil mechanical electrical chemical as distinctive segments of certain courses e g those that focus on design problems or as a full semester course in ethics in engineering Similar approaches can be taken in nursing medicine law social work psychology accountancy management and so on That is some emphasis on ethics can be expected to be found in broad range of academic disciplines However many ethical issues require careful attention from the perspectives of several disciplines at once and in ways that require their joining hands Recognizing that adequately addressing many ethical issues may require the inclusion of perspectives from a variety of disciplines makes apparent the need for effective communication and reflection across disciplines not simply within them This in turn suggests that faculty and their students can benefit from special programs that are designed to include participants from a variety of disciplines Such programs will be a central feature of this book Although some differences might arise in how such issues might best be discussed across different parts of the curriculum these discussions might be joined in ways that help students faculty administrators and the wider public better appreciate their shared ethical ground
