Domain-Specific Languages in Practice Antonio Bucchiarone, Antonio Cicchetti, Federico Ciccuzzi, Alfonso Pierantonio, 2021-06-24 This book covers several topics related to domain specific language DSL engineering in general and how they can be handled by means of the JetBrains Meta Programming System MPS an open source language workbench developed by JetBrains over the last 15 years The book begins with an overview of the domain of language workbenches which provides perspectives and motivations underpinning the creation of MPS Moreover technical details of the language underneath MPS together with the definition of the tool's main features are discussed. The remaining ten chapters are then organized in three parts each dedicated to a specific aspect of the topic. Part I MPS in Industrial Applications deals with the challenges and inadequacies of general purpose languages used in companies as opposed to the reasons why DSLs are essential together with their benefits and efficiency and summarizes lessons learnt by using MPS. Part II about MPS in Research Projects covers the benefits of text based languages the design and development of gamification applications and research fields with generally low expertise in language engineering. Eventually Part III focuses on Teaching and Learning with MPS by discussing the organization of both commercial and academic courses on MPS. MPS is used to implement languages for real world use. Its distinguishing feature is projectional editing which supports practically unlimited language extension and composition possibilities as well as a flexible mix of a wide range of textual tabular mathematical and graphical notations. The number and diversity of the presented use cases demonstrate the strength and malleability of the DSLs defined using MPS. The selected contributions represent the current state of the art and practice in using JetBrains MPS to implement languages for real world applications.
