Popular Culture in the Middle East and North Africa Walid El Hamamsy, Mounira Soliman, 2013-01-04 This book explores the body and the production process of popular culture in and on the Middle East and North Africa. Turkey and Iran in the first decade of the 21st century and up to the current historical moment. Essays consider gender, racial, political, and cultural issues in film, cartoons, music, dance, photo, tattoos, graphic novels, fiction, and advertisements. Contributors to the volume span an array of specializations ranging across literary, postcolonial, gender, media, and Middle Eastern studies and contextualize their views within a larger historical and political moment, analyzing the emergence of a popular expression in the Middle East and North Africa region in recent years and drawing conclusions pertaining to the direction of popular culture within a geopolitical context. The importance of this book lies in presenting a fresh perspective on popular culture, combining media that are not often combined and offering a topical examination of recent popular production aiming to counter stereotypical representations of Islamophobia and otherness by bringing together the perspectives of scholars from different cultural backgrounds and disciplines. The collection shows that popular culture can effect changes and alter perceptions and stereotypes constituting an area where people of different ethnicities genders and orientations can find common grounds for expression and connection

Edward Said's Translocations Tobias Döring, Mark Stein, 2012 In this contribution to contemporary political philosophy Jensen aims to develop a model of civil society for deliberative democracy In the course of developing the model he also provides a thorough account of the meaning and use of civil society in contemporary scholarship as well as a critical review of rival models including those found in the work of scholars such as John Rawls Jurgen Habermas Michael Walzer Benjamin Barber and Nancy Rosenblum Jensen's own ideal treats civil society as both the context in which citizens live out their comprehensive views of the good life as well as the context in which citizens learn to be good deliberative democrats According to his idealization groups of citizens in civil society are actively engaged in a grand conversation about the nature of the good life Their commitment to this conversation grounds dispositions of epistemic humility tolerance curiosity and moderation Moreover their regard for the grand conversation explains their interest in deliberative democracy and their regard for democratic virtues principles and practices Jensen is not a naive utopian however he argues that this ideal must be realized in stages that it faces a variety of barriers and that it cannot be realized without luck

Fiction, Film, and Indian Popular Cinema Florian Stadler, 2013-10-30 This book analyses the novels of Salman Rushdie and their stylistic conventions in the context of Indian popular cinema and its role in the elaboration of the author's arguments about post independence postcolonial India Focusing on different genres of Indian popular cinema such as the Social Mythological and Historical Stadler examines how Rushdie's writing foregrounds the epic the mythic the tragic and the comic linking them in storylines narrated in cinematic parameters The book shows that Indian popular cinema's syncretism becomes an aesthetic marker in Rushdie's fiction that allows him to elaborate on the multiplicity of Indian identity both on the subcontinent and abroad and illustrates how Rushdie uses Indian popular cinema in his narratives to express an aesthetics of hybridity and a particular conceptualization of culture with which India has become identified in a global context Also highlighted are Rushdie's uses of cinema to inflect his reading of India as a pluralist nation and of the hybrid space occupied by the Indian diaspora across the world The book connects Rushdie's storylines with modes of cinematic representation to explore questions about the role place and space of the individual in relation to a fast changing social economic and political space in India and the wider world

Postcolonial Conrad Terry Collits, 2006-09-27 Winner of the 2006 NSW Prize for Literary Scholarship The work of Joseph Conrad has been read so disparately that it is tempting to talk of many different Conrads One lasting impression however is that his colonial novels which record encounters between Europe and Europe s Other are highly significant for the field of post colonial studies Drawing on many years of research and a rich body of criticism Postcolonial Conrad not only presents fresh readings of his novels of imperialism but also maps and analyzes the interpretative tradition they have generated Terry Collits first examines the reception of the author s work in terms of the history of ideas literary criticism traditions of Englishness Marxism and post colonialism before re reading Heart of Darkness Lord Jim Nostromo and Victory in greater depth Collits incisive and wide ranging volume provides a much needed reconsideration of more than a century of criticism discussing the many different perspectives born of constantly shifting contexts Most importantly though the book encourages and equips us for twenty first criticism where we must ask anew how we might read and understand these crucial and fascinating novels

Postcolonial Theory and Autobiography David Huddart, 2008-04-18 Cultural theory has often been criticized for covert Eurocentric and universalist tendencies Its concepts and ideas are implicitly applicable to everyone ironing over any individuality or cultural difference Postcolonial theory has challenged these limitations of cultural theory and Postcolonial Theory and Autobiography addresses the central challenge posed by its autobiographical turn Despite the fact that autobiography is frequently dismissed for its Western masculine bias David Huddart argues for its continued relevance as a central explanatory category in understanding postcolonial theory and its relation to subjectivity Focusing on the influence of post structuralist theory on postcolonial theory and vice versa this study suggests that autobiography constitutes a general philosophical resistance to universal concepts and theories Offering a fresh perspective on familiar critical figures like Edward W Said and Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak by putting them in the context of readings of the work of Jacques Derrida Gilles Deleuze and Alain Badiou this book relates the theory of autobiography to expressions of new universalisms that together with postcolonial theory rethink and extend norms of experience investigation and knowledge
