Christianity in Southeast Asia Robbie B. H. Goh, 2005 This book briefly recounts the history of the establishment and expansion of Christianity during the colonial and post colonial eras With the exception of the Philippines Christianity has been a minor religion in much of Southeast Asia albeit one whose followers have sometimes played key roles in developing education and social services Although statistically small evangelical Christian groups in particular are trying to increase membership and influence which may have adverse reactions in the countries whose populations are adherents of other major world faiths

The Politics of English Lionel Wee, Robbie B. H. Goh, Lisa Lim, 2013 This volume brings together contributions that explore the increasingly important roles that English plays in Asia including its contribution to economic growth national imaginaries and creative writing These are issues that are political in a broad sense but the diversity of Asian contexts also means that the social political and cultural ramifications of the spread of English into Asia will have to be understood in relation to the challenges facing specific societies The chapters in the book collectively illustrate this diversity by focusing on countries from South Asia Southeast Asia and the Asia Pacific Each country has two contributions devoted to it one paper provides an overview of the country s language policy and its positioning of English and another provides a critical discussion of creative expressions involving the use of English Taken together the papers in the volume detail the most recent developments concerning the politics of English in Asia Heteroglossic Asia Francis Chia-Hui Lin,2015-01-09

Heteroglossic Asia presents an analysis of geographic historical cultural economic spatial and political factors underlying Taiwan s maritime urbanity by means of case studies based on Taipei and Kaohsiung two cities which represent the multi accentual character of Taiwan s urban environment and its recent changes and development through architecture Focussing on the concept of a heteroglossic Asia Pacific exemplified by the analysis of Taiwan s urban transformation the study argues that Taiwan s urban environment shows a form of intended fuzziness which cannot be described as resting on either a simplified nationalist base or chaotic societal anxiety Rather this form lies between binary poles autocracy and democracy nation state and day to day life top down and bottom up orientations orthodoxy and hybridisation

Doing Ethnography in the Wake of the Displacement of Transnational Sex Workers in Yokohama Ayaka Yoshimizu,2021-11-22

Doing Ethnography in the Wake of the Displacement of Transnational Sex Workers in Yokohama reflects on the politics poetics and ethics of remembering the lives of transnational migrant sex workers in postcolonial Japan Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork in the port city of Yokohama the book focuses on the water trade in the Koganecho neighbourhood where exploitative and stigmatised labour took place involving sexual services performed by migrant women In recent years the city has sought to rebrand Koganecho evicting transnational migrant sex workers who had been integral to postindustrial development and erasing their past presence The author explores Yokohama s memoryscapes in the aftermath of displacement through embodied knowledge engaging her senses and ethics as a colonizer researcher as she navigates the elusive past through traces that remain in the present She examines the city s built environment official historical narratives films and photographic works With few brothels and workers remaining Yoshimizu fills the gap with her own interactions encounters and imaginings Yoshimizu also writes through the imagery of water in ways that are informed by the local usage and imaginations the ocean flowing rivers swamps humidity alcohol the fluidity of relationships and transient lives The water also offers a way to sense the ghost or the displaced lives and the effects of displacement that like humid air stick to those who occupy or inhabit the site of displacement today This interdisciplinary work makes a valuable contribution to sensory studies memory studies migration studies and Asian studies

Reimagining the More-Than-Human City Jamie Wang,2024-10-01

An exploration of the multifaceted urban environmental issues in Singapore through a more than human lens calling for new ways to think of and story cities As climate change accelerates and urbanization intensifies our need for more sustainable and livable cities has never been more urgent Yet the imaginary of a flourishing urban ecofuture is often driven by a specific version of sustainability that is tied to both high tech futurism and persistent economic growth What kinds of sustainable futures are we calling forth and at what and whose expense In Reimagining the More Than Human City Jamie Wang attempts to answer these questions by critically examining the sociocultural political ethical and affective facets of human environment dynamics in the urban nexus with a geographic focus on Singapore Widely considered a model for the future of urbanism and an emblematic new world city Singapore Wang contends is a fascinating site to explore how modernist sustainable urbanism is imagined and put into practice Drawing on field research this book explores distinct and intrarelated urban imaginaries situated in various sites from the futuristic authoritarian Supertree Grove positioned as a technologically sustainable solution to a velocity charged and singular urban transportation system to highly protected nature reserves and to the cemeteries where graves and memories continue to be exhumed and erased to make way for development Wang also attends to more contingent yet hopeful alternatives that aim to reconfigure current urban approaches In the face of growing enthusiasm for building high tech sustainable and natural cities Wang ultimately argues that urban imaginings must create space for a more relational understanding of urban environments

Race and Multiculturalism in Malaysia and Singapore Daniel P.S. Goh, Matilda Gabrielpillai, Philip Holden, Gaik Cheng Khoo, 2009-06-12 This book explores race and multiculturalism in Malaysia and Singapore from a range of different disciplinary perspectives showing how race and multiculturalism are represented how multiculturalism works out in practice and how attitudes towards race and multiculturalism and multicultural practices have developed over time Going beyond existing studies which concentrate on the politics and public aspects of multiculturalism this book burrows deeper into the cultural underpinnings of multicultural politics relating the subject to the theoretical angles of cultural studies and post colonial theory and discussing a range of empirical examples drawn from extensive original research covering diverse practices such as films weblogs music subcultures art policy discourse textbooks novels poetry which demonstrate overall how the identity politics of race and intercultural interaction are being shaped today It concentrates on two key Asian countries particularly noted for their relatively successful record in managing ethnic differences at a time when many fast developing Asian countries increasingly have to come to terms with cultural pluralism and migrant diversity

Writing the Global City Anthony King, 2016-04-14 Over the last three decades our understanding of the city worldwide has been revolutionized by three innovative theoretical concepts globalisation postcolonialism and a radically contested notion of modernity The idea and even the reality of the city has been extended out of the state and nation and re positioned in the larger global world In this book Anthony King brings together key essays written over this period much of it dominated by debates about the world or global city Challenging assumptions and silences behind these debates King provides largely ignored historical and cultural dimensions to the understanding of world city formation as well as decline Interdisciplinary and comparative the essays address new ways of framing contemporary themes the imperial and colonial origin of contemporary world and global cities actually existing postcolonialisms claims about urban and cultural homogenisation and the role of architecture and built environment in that process Also addressed are arguments about indigenous and exogenous perspectives Eurocentricism ways of framing vernacular architecture and the global historical sociology of building types Wide ranging and accessible Writing the Global City provides essential historical contexts and theoretical frameworks for understanding contemporary urban and architectural debates Extensive bibliographies will make it essential for teaching reference and research The Postcolonial Condition of Architecture in Asia Francis Chia-Hui Lin, 2022-02-16 This book provides a bidirectional investigation of Asia's spatiotemporality by asking how Asia is located and how localities are Asianized Historical and theoretical inquiries into architecture and urbanism in order to trace a notional common divisor are integrated with readings of this Asian imagery Such a common divisor is conditioned to Asia's phenomenal postcolonial subjectivation and showcases Asia's unique character This book contends that the postcolonial condition of architecture in Asia suggests a potential and critical bridge to better understanding of the region Theoretically display ness is a strategic and allegoric carrier that is in the focus of this book in order to emphasize the quality of display in a broader sense of time and space Asia's architectural and urban spectacle thus is meaningfully magnified and intensified with this notion of display ness to ground the cohesive abstraction among ideological discourse production innovative theorizations and empirical phenomena in contemporary scholarship
