

MAN MADE LANGUAGE

DALE SPENDER

"In this book, Spender argues that language is not a neutral medium for communication, but a social and cultural construct. He explores how language is used to create and maintain social hierarchies, and how it can be used to challenge and change them. Spender's argument is based on a critical analysis of the ways in which language is used in everyday life, and he provides a range of examples to illustrate his points. This is a thought-provoking and accessible book that will be of interest to anyone who is interested in the relationship between language and society."
