SPECIAL ATTENTION

Cars operated principally on gravel or dusty roads and through extended rainy seasons, may need lubrication attention more frequently and should be serviced as required. In dusty territories, the air cleaners should be cleaned often. Under extreme conditions, once a day may be necessary.

AIR CLEANERS

Two different type air cleaners, the carburetor air cleaner and the crankcase ventilator air cleaner, are used to prevent moisture, dust and other foreign matter from the air entering the engine. These units should be serviced regularly in order to afford the engine the protection for which they were intended.

CRANKCASE VENTILATOR INTAKE PIPE AIR CLEANER

Air for ventilating the crankcase enters through the oil filler pipe. This air is filtered by passing through an air cleaner which serves as the filler-pipe cap. In order to make sure that this cleaner functions properly, it should be removed and serviced at each Engine Oil change. Refer to Lubrication Chart.

THE CARBURETOR AIR CLEANER

Your Chrysler is equipped with an oil bath type air cleaner designed to provide maximum protection against dirt, dust and abrasives which otherwise might enter the engine through the carburetor. It is important that the air cleaner be examined every 1,000 miles or 30 days of operation. If the pump is found to contain a considerable mixture of dirt and oil up to the lower offset in the reservoir, the air cleaner should be removed and thoroughly cleaned. Refer to Lubrication Chart.

CAUTION

Avoid overfilling the air cleaner with Engine Oil, as too much oil may cause excessive fuel consumption.

WARNING! DUSTY DRIVING

Normally, dust is kept out of the engine by the carburetor air cleaner and the crankcase ventilator air cleaner, but cars operated in dusty territories may require more frequent service of these air cleaning units. If the crankcase oil becomes contaminated through failure to service the unit, drain the engine promptly and refill with new oil.

TO PROTECT YOUR ENGINE

1. Check oil level at each refueling.
2. Change oil at recommended intervals.
3. Replace oil filter element every 1,000 miles or coincide with oil change.
