Licensing Information

The SZ100 comes pre-shipped with 1000 temporary AP Capacity Licenses, which are valid for a period of 90 days from when the SZ100 is configured via the initial setup configuration. For operation beyond 90 days, you MUST buy permanent AP Capacity licenses. The purchased Licenses MUST be activated for them to become valid.

The management of the AP Capacity Licenses and the ability to activate the permanent Licenses will be through the Ruckus Wireless Support Portal (<https://support.ruckuswireless.com>). An email will be sent to the User that is identified on the Purchase Order and full instructions as to how to activate the Licenses is included in the email. As a guide, full instructions can be found at <https://support.ruckuswireless.com/activate>. Using the UMAN (license management) portal on the Ruckus Wireless Support website, you can assign licenses to or from a SZ100 or move them to another SZ100 (see a summary of UMAN features in Table 1).

To physically manage the distribution of licenses from the Support website to the actual SZ100, you must connect the SZ100 directly to the Internet. In the event that the SZ100 is disconnected from the Internet, you can download the actual licenses from the Support Portal and manually upload to the specific SZ100.

For step-by-step instructions on how to activate the SZ100's licenses, see Step 5: Activate the SZ100's Licenses.

Table 1. UMAN features and how to activate them at the SZ100

UMAN Features	SZ100 Online (Connected to the Internet)	SZ100 Offline (Disconnected from the Internet)
- Register SZ100 controllers, licenses, support entitlement - Add capacity licenses to SZ100 controllers - Remove licenses from one SZ100 and add to another	No action required. The SZ100 syncs with UMAN automatically within 24 hours and applies the appropriate licenses.	Three steps required: 1 Download the license file from UMAN. 2 Log on to the SZ100, and then upload the license file from UMAN. 3 Download the license response file from the SZ100, and then upload it to UMAN.

Package Contents

- One SmartZone 100 appliance with one AC/DC power supply unit and power cord
- One console cable

- One Rack Mount Kit
- Service Level Agreement/Limited Warranty Statement sheet
- Regulatory Statement sheet
- This Quick Setup Guide

What You Will Need

- An administrative computer (admin PC) with a connection to the local area network
- A web browser, such as Internet Explorer, Mozilla Firefox, Google Chrome or Apple Safari
- The IP address, netmask, gateway and DNS server addresses assigned to the SZ100 — if it has a static network address (recommended)

Step 1: Connect the SZ100 to the Network

- Connect the SZ100 to a convenient power source, and then press the power switch on the rear panel. The Alarm LED shows a flashing red light as the SZ100 starts up. When the SZ100 has started up successfully, the Alarm LED turns to a solid green light.
- Obtain an Ethernet cable. Connect one end of the Ethernet cable to one of the LAN ports (port 1 or 2 recommended) on the SZ100, and then connect the other end to your network's switch or router. DHCP server should be available in the connected LAN environment for SZ100 to get the IP address.

NOTE The SZ100 is a Universal Plug and Play (UPnP) device. Once you connect it to the network, it will automatically configure itself, obtain an IP address, and make its presence known to other devices on the network.

- Go to the admin PC and verify that the SZ100 is now discoverable on the network. On Windows 7 and Windows 8, go to Control Panel > Network and Internet > View Network computers and devices, and then locate the Network Infrastructure section. The SZ100 should appear there. In such scenarios, SZ100 and a system (laptop or a PC) should have cross-over connection and the system should have an IP address in the same subnet as SZ100. Configure SZ100 MGMT and CONTROL interface and add it to the new LAN connection. Use the new IP address to access SZ100.
