Design For An Empathic World Reconnecting People Nature And Self:

Design for an Empathic World Sim Van der Ryn, 2013-10-03 Despite an uncertain economy the market for green building is exploding The US green building market has expanded dramatically since 2008 and is projected to double in size by 2015 from 42 billion in construction starts to 135 billion But green building pioneer Sim Van der Ryn says greening our buildings is not enough He advocates for empathic design in which a designer not only works in concert with nature but with an understanding of and empathy for the end user and for ones self It is not just one of these connections but all three that are necessary to design for a future that is more humane equitable and resilient Sim s lifelong focus has been in shifting the paradigm in architecture and design Instead of thinking about design primarily in relation to the infrastructure we live in and with everything from buildings to wireless routing he advocates for a focus on the people who use and are affected by this infrastructure Basic design must include a real understanding of human ecology or end user preferences Understanding ones motivations and spirituality Sim believes is critical to designing with empathy for natural and human communities In Design for an Empathic World Van der Ryn shares his thoughts and experience about the design of our world today With a focus on the strengths and weaknesses in our approach to the design of our communities regions and buildings he looks at promising trends and projects that demonstrate how we can help create a better world for others and ourselves Architects urban designers and students of architecture will all enjoy this beautifully illustrated book drawing on a rich and revered career of a noted leader in their field The journey described in Design for an Empathic World will help to inspire change and foster the collaboration and thoughtfulness necessary to achieve a more empathic future

Empathetic Policy Design Piyapong Boossabong, 2025-01-17 This book sets out to develop a policy design process that is more inclusive by creating space for emotions and feelings Rather than focus solely on expert knowledge it places the fears and hopes of citizens at the heart of policy design to facilitate meaningful interactions between policymakers and the citizens they serve Focusing particularly on evidence from Thailand but drawing on case studies from around the world the book argues that empathetic policy design is crucial to foster social learning and better informed policies It also focuses on how emotions can be incorporated into policy design and how policymakers of the future might use these design processes to create and implement policies that will benefit all The book will appeal to all those interested in public policy and policy design
