Dreams Donald Albrecht, 1986 Designing Dreams Donald Albrecht, 2000 The Bauhaus and America Margret Kentgens-Craig, 2001 After the Bauhaus's closing in 1933 many of its protagonists moved to the United States where their acceptance had to be cultivated In this book Margret Kentgens Craig shows that the fame of the Bauhaus in America was the result not only of the inherent qualities of its concepts and products but also of a unique congruence of cultural supply and demand of a consistent flow of information and of fine tuned marketing Thus the history of the American reception of the Bauhaus in the 1920s and 1930s foreshadows the patterns of fame making that became typical of the post World War II art world BOOK JACKET Designing the French Interior Anca I. Production Design & the Cinematic Home Jane Barnwell, 2022-05-10 This book uses in depth case studies to explore the significance of the design of the home on screen The chapters draw widely upon the production designer's professional perspective and particular creative point of view The case studies employ a methodology Barnwell has pioneered for the analysis of production design called Visual Concept Analysis which can be used as a key to decode the design of any given film Through the nurturing warmth of the Browns home in Paddington the ambiguous boundaries of secret service agent homes in Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy and the singleton space occupied by Bridget Jones Barnwell demonstrates that the domestic interior consistently plays a key role Whether used as a transition space an ideal a catalyst for change or a place to return to these case studies examine the pivotal nature of the home in storytelling and the production designers significance in its creation The book benefits from interviews with production designers and artwork that provides insight on the creative process Film Architecture and the Transnational Imagination Tim Bergfelder, Sue Harris, Sarah Street, 2007

S. Tashiro, 2010-07-05 Theories of film have traditionally dealt with either narrative or industrial issues with the consequence that the physical content of the graphic frame has often been ignored or relegated to the sidelines By contrast C S Tashiro foregrounds the visual aspect of cinema in this book drawing on his experiences as a designer and filmmaker as well as on contemporary theory to show how production design can support or contradict narrative structure or exist in an entirely parallel realm of meaning Tashiro looks at cinematic production design from a broadly interdisciplinary perspective encompassing art and architecture theory audience reception narrative theory and phenomenology to arrive at a more encompassing definition of the process He builds his argument around studies of several prominent history films since design is central to historical representation and explores the most pertinent issues raised by the topic particularly commodity consumption In his conclusion he also offers possible solutions to some of the social problems raised by design
