Cluster-Based Industrial Development: T. Sonobe,K. Otsuka,2014-10-30 This book attempts to provide an effective strategy for industrial development based on the KAIZEN management training experiments conducted in Ghana Kenya Ethiopia Vietnam and Tanzania We focus on micro and small enterprises MSEs in industrial clusters because clusters consisting of MSEs are ubiquitous and have high potential to grow

Transforming Poor Economies Keijiro Otsuka,2024-12-09 Transforming Poor Economies expertly proposes effective strategies for the development of agriculture and industry within lower income countries in continents such as Africa and Asia using insightful case studies to illustrate key findings

State Building and Development Keijiro Otsuka,Takashi Shiraishi,2014-02-03 Why does a huge income gap still exist between developed and developing countries Plausible causes on the surface may be the difference in technology the quality of human resources and economic institutions but on the deeper level the gap reflects the success and failure of state building which is vital for economic development This book provides cutting edge knowledge on state building economic development and democratization based on case studies of Japan ASEAN South Asia and selected countries in sub Saharan Africa The book examines the interaction between land policies and the state building in sub Saharan Africa It also pays special attention to corruption which affects the relationship between the state and the development and decentralization which exerts influences on the contentious politics Finally the book also sheds new light on the failure and success of industrial policies based on a literature review and a case study of the rapidly growing pharmaceutical industry in Bangladesh This book is one of the few studies which squarely addresses state building and economic development and will be of use to those interested in this subject development practitioners and policymakers in developing countries

Paths to the Emerging State in Asia and Africa Keijiro Otsuka,Kaoru Sugihara,2019-01-16 This book is open access under a CC BY NC ND license This book addresses the issue of how a country which was incorporated into the world economy as a periphery could make a transition to the emerging state capable of undertaking the task of economic development and industrialization It offers historical and contemporary case studies of transition as well as the international background under which such a transition was successfully made or delayed by combining the approaches of economic history and development economics Its aim is to identify relevant historical contexts that is the initial conditions and internal and external forces which governed the transition It also aims to understand what current low income developing countries require for their transition Three economic driving forces for the transition are identified They are 1 labor intensive industrialization which offers ample employment opportunities for labor force 2 international trade which facilitates efficient international division of labor and 3 agricultural development which improves food security by increasing supply of staple foods The book presents a bold account of each driver for the transition Light Manufacturing in Vietnam Hinh T. Dinh,Deepak Mishra,2014-01-29 Based on a wide array of quantitative and qualitative techniques Light Manufacturing in Vietnam identifies key constraints on manufacturing enterprises in Vietnam and evaluates differences in firm performance across China and Vietnam The authors argue that to continue on the high economic growth path of the past Vietnam needs to address fundamental structural issues in the manufacturing sector that have been masked by this growth Furthermore addressing these issues would also help Vietnam move up the higher value added chain and avoid the middle income trap that other East Asian economies have experienced Applying the Kaizen in Africa Keijiro Otsuka,Kimiaki Jin,Tetsushi Sonobe,2018-08-22 At present how to develop industries is a burning issue in Africa where population growth remains high and economic development has thus far failed to provide sufficient jobs for many especially young people and women The creation of productive jobs through industrial development ought to be a central issue in steering economic activity across the continent The authors of this book consisting of two development economists and five practitioners argue that the adoption of Kaizen management practices which originated in Japan and have become widely used by manufacturers in advanced and emerging economies is decisively the most effective first step for industrial development in Africa This open access book discusses what Kaizen management is why it is applicable to Africa and why it can provide Africa with a springboard for sustainable economic growth and employment generation Industrial Districts in History and the Developing World Tomoko Hashino,Keijiro Otsuka,2016-10-11 This book sheds new light on the role of industrial districts in the industrial development of the past and present Industrial districts which refer to the geographical concentration of enterprises producing similar or closely related commodities in a small area play a significant role in the development of manufacturing industries not only historically in Europe and Japan but also at present in emerging East Asian economies such as China and Vietnam and low income countries in sub Saharan Africa The book identifies similarities in the development patterns of industrial districts in history and the present and analyzes the reasons for these similarities More specifically the book examines whether Marshallian agglomeration economies provide sufficient explanations and seeks to deepen understanding about the important factors that are missing Despite the common issues addressed by economic historians and development economists regarding the advantages of industrial districts for industrial development discussion of these issues between the two groups of researchers has been largely absent or at best weak The purpose of this book is to integrate the results of case studies by economic historians interested in France Spain and Japan and those by development economists interested in the contemporary industries still developing in China Vietnam Bangladesh Tanzania and other countries in sub Saharan Africa
