

Physics 207 - Lab 7 - Buoyancy

Introduction

The apparent weight of an object is given by the difference between the

$$W_{app} = W - F_b$$

where W is the weight of the object and F_b is the buoyant force.

The buoyant force is the upward force exerted on an object by a fluid. It is given by the weight of the fluid displaced by the object. This is known as Archimedes' principle.

$$F_b = \rho V g$$

where ρ is the density of the fluid, V is the volume of the object submerged, and g is the acceleration due to gravity. The buoyant force is always directed upwards, opposite to the weight of the object.

The buoyant force is a result of the pressure difference between the top and bottom of the object. The pressure is higher at the bottom of the object, resulting in a net upward force.

Experiment 1

Determine the density of a solid object using Archimedes' principle.

Method 1:

1. Weigh the object in air. 2. Weigh the object in water. 3. Calculate the buoyant force. 4. Calculate the volume of the object. 5. Calculate the density of the object.

Method 2:

1. Weigh the object in air. 2. Weigh the object in water. 3. Calculate the buoyant force. 4. Calculate the volume of the object. 5. Calculate the density of the object.

Report Questions

1. Calculate the density of the object.

Experiment 2
