Design And Create Sarcophagus:

Roman Sarcophagi in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Anna Marguerite McCann, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 1978 Roman Strigillated Sarcophagi Janet Huskinson, 2015-11-05 This is the first full study of Roman strigillated sarcophagi which are the largest group of decorated marble sarcophagi to survive in the city of Rome Characterized by panels of carved fluting hence the description strigillated after the curved strigil used by Roman bathers to scrape off oil and limited figure scenes they were produced from the mid second to the early fifth century AD and thus cover a critical period in Rome from empire to early Christianity Roman Strigillated Sarcophagi focuses on their rich potential as an historical source for exploring the social and cultural life of the city in the later empire The first part of the volume examines aspects of their manufacture use and viewing emphasizing distinctive features The second part looks at the figured representations carved on the sarcophagi and at their social significance and creativity concentrating on how their various arrangements allowed viewers to develop their own interpretations The subjects represented by the figures and the flexibility with which they might be read provide invaluable insights into how Romans thought about life and death during these changing times The final part of the volume surveys how later societies responded to Roman strigillated sarcophagi From as early as the fifth century AD their distinctive decoration and allusions to the Roman past made them especially attractive for reuse in particular contemporary contexts notably for elite burials and the decoration of prominent buildings The motif of curved fluting was also adopted and adapted it decorated neo classical memorials to Captain Cook Napoleon s sister in law Christine Boyer and Penelope Boothby and its use continues into this century well over one and a half millennia since it first decorated Roman sarcophagi Creating Art for All Ages Frances Flicker, Jacqueline G. Maureen F. Kaplan,1982 Again to the Life of Eternity Frank A. Vaughan,1996 This work postulates that the set of 116 designs by William Blake illustrated herein is not a series of individual responses to the pieces of text they accompany nor is it a series of responses to the individual poems of Thomas Gray The designs are also more than illustrations or corrections of Gray s speakers or of Gray himself In the Gray designs Blake was using the opportunity given him by John and Ann Flaxman in 1797 to explore and explain visually the reformist malaise in the reactionary nineties when the general economic well being and optimism had been replaced by the effects of war and fear For Blake the collapse into the later 1790s is the failure of the imaginative will to sustain the impetus that the American and French Revolutions had begun Blake saw several causes for this failure of will and created a set of designs rich in allusions and dense with visual conventions These visual topoi are personal topical classical biblical and literary Thus there is a need for a study of the Gray designs that sees them as they are a unity rich with visual conventions partaking of Blake s revolutionary pattern of development and desire to reshape in specific ways the mind of his audience

BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Design & Intuition Cecilia Lewis Kausel,2012 Scholarship has sought to explain design primarily as developments and trends by understanding the influential ideas of a period These processes are resourceful to the analysis however they don t explain why people become attached to design and cultivate it in time For this purpose we must also gain understanding of collective cognitive processes and the meaning of design to people The study traces the development of respective design observed first in ancient structures and then in interiors and artefacts that are associated to architecture by design Design form migrates usually from technology to material culture i e from buildings to interiors and crafts though this direction is not fixed in creativity Sometimes this pattern is not followed and arches pilasters tower crenellations and pediments appear in historic costume Technology holds implications for visual culture thus this study also looks at the inspiration in mechanical instruments observed in XXI century design As the book unfolds a cultural phenomenon emerges Architectural evocations in other crafts reflect that the public has its own dialogue with design The attachments and responses of the public to design are many times a phenomenon worthy of being analyzed The book gives out interesting findings about the mind and how it transforms design It also exemplifies a new methodology for the observation of collective responses to design
