Horror Wilhelm Lang, 2020-06-06 This is a true crime list about 10 children who committed murders

DISCLAIMER AND WARNING Some of the contents are graphic and very disturbing especially because many of the victims were children themselves Reader discretion is advised It s rare for a child to commit a serious crime and even rarer for that act to be murder So when these cases make the news they fascinate readers and stay in the public consciousness long after the trials have ended Murder is such an extreme crime that even what motivates adult killers can remain mysterious Getting to the bottom of what pushed a child to kill is even more difficult Many such crimes involve children attacking those younger than them usually with an age gap of six to eight years Needing to feel powerful comes into some of the cases as does curiosity wanting to know what killing feels like In this book we take a closer look at some of the most chilling child murderers Writing British Infanticide Jennifer Thorn,2003 Writing British Infanticide tracks the ways that the circulation of narratives of child murder in eighteenth and nineteenth century Britain shaped perceptions and punishments of the crime and more elusively hierarchies of class and gender The essays brought together in this volume pose the question How are we to understand the proliferation of writing about child murder in eighteenth and nineteenth century Britain the overlap of an expanding print culture with the widely evident narration of this particular crime Further what are we to make of the recurrent and remarkably consistent representation of child murder as the special province of unmarried desperate women Focussing on specific instances of the transformative effect of the circulation of narratives of child murder Writing British Infanticide takes as its purview not child murder per se but the ways that writing about its credentialed and differentiated writers in different but often overlapping genres and moments in a key period in the expansion of print Jennifer Thorn is an Assistant Professor of English at Duke University Child Abduction Prevention Act and the Child Obscenity and Pornography Prevention Act of 2003 United States.
