Children Who Resist Post-Separation Parental Contact

Barbara Jo Fidler, Nicholas Bala, Michael A. Saini, 2012-09-13 Interest in the problem of children who resist contact with or become alienated from a parent after separation or divorce is growing due in part to parents' increasing frustrations with the apparent ineffectiveness of the legal system in handling these unique cases There is a need for legal and mental health professionals to improve their understanding of and response to this polarizing social dynamic Children Who Resist Post Separation Parental Contact is a critical empirically based review of parental alienation that integrates the best research evidence with clinical insight from interviews with leading scholars and practitioners The authors Fidler Bala and Saini a psychologist a lawyer and a social worker are an multidisciplinary team who draw upon the growing body of mental health and legal literature to summarize the historical development and controversies surrounding the concept of alienation and explain the causes dynamics and differentiation of various types of parent child relationship issues The authors review research on prevalence risk factors indicators assessment and measurement to form a conceptual integration of multiple factors relevant to the etiology and maintenance of the problem of strained parent child relationships A differential approach to assessment and intervention is provided Children's rights the role of their wishes and preferences in legal proceedings and the short and long term impact of parental alienation are also discussed Considering legal clinical prevention and intervention strategies and concluding with recommendations for practice research and policy this book is a much needed resource for mental health professionals judges family lawyers child protection workers mediators and others who work with families dealing with divorce separation and child custody issues

The Scientific Basis of Child Custody Decisions

Robert M. Galatzer-Levy, Louis Kraus, Jeanne Galatzer-Levy, 2009-03-23 The legal system requires mental health professionals to provide research summaries to support their evaluations in child custody cases Contributions from leading developmental researchers legal professionals and clinicians describe how scientific evidence is properly used in court Timely and current this book helps evaluators access the best information to fulfill their obligations to their clients and the court The Second Edition adds chapters on family observation parental alienation and sexual abuse Forensic psychologists family lawyers and judges will be equipped with the most current information to aid in custody decisions

Parenting after Partnering Mavis

Maclea, 2007-12-20 Relationships between adult partners following divorce or separation can be fragile and the issues which have divided the parents are often hard to disentangle from the ongoing relationships between parents and children There is a small group who have ongoing difficulty and who need professional help and legal intervention to make arrangements for ongoing parenting This volume brings together a wealth of new empirical research from the USA Central North Western and Southern Europe and Australia on the nature and importance of children s relationships with parents after parental separation on the kinds of conflicts which develop and on the range of professional interventions which support parents and children through these difficult times

Divorced from Reality Jane C. Murphy, Jana B.

Singer, 2015-06-26 Over the past thirty years there has been a dramatic shift in the way the legal system approaches family disputes Traditionally family disputes were resolved through an adversary system opposing parties appealed to a judge who determined which party was at fault and how the marital assets including the children should be divided Now many family courts are opting for a problem solving model in which courts attempt to restructure families by resolving both legal and nonlegal issues At the same time American families have changed dramatically Divorce rates have slowed while the number of children born and raised outside of marriage has increased sharply Grandparents and same sex partners care for children and more fathers seek an active role in their children s lives As a result families in today s court system have become more diverse and their legal situations more complex In Divorced from Reality Jane C Murphy and Jana B Singer argue that the current problem solving model fails to address the realities of today s families While today s dispute resolution regime may represent an improvement over its more adversary predecessor it is built largely around the model of a divorcing nuclear family with lawyers representing all parties a model that fits poorly with the realities of today s disputing families And courts may no longer be the best place for families in conflict To serve the families it is meant to help the legal system must adapt and reshape itself Unedited summary from book jacket
