E. Kaufmann,H. W. Kaufmann,2019-07-30 The authors of Castrum to Castle trace the evolution of defensive architecture at the turn of the late Middle Ages and the beginning of the Renaissance Old Barbed Wire Blog Across western Europe the long tradition of castle building took on its most sophisticated form in the later Medieval period and then in response to the development of gunpowder weapons it underwent a fundamental change from castle to fortress This the second volume of a highly illustrated new study of medieval fortification gives a fascinating insight into the last great age of castles and the centuries of violence and conflict they were part of It traces the advances made between the twelfth and the fifteenth centuries looking in particular at the form these fortifications took in contexts as different as Italy Wales France and the Iberian Peninsula Many would regard this period in the history of castles as the classic age It was followed by a phase of relative decline as the conditions of warfare changed and castles had to be adapted to cope with cannon The conventional castle gave way to new styles of fortification But as the authors demonstrate they were still essential factors in military calculations and campaigns they were of direct strategic and tactical importance wherever there was an attempt to take or hold territory A fascinating treatise on the way such buildings were modified to provide protection from growing threats Books Monthly Crusader Castles Brian Hoggard,2004 Looks at the costs construction builders and renovations of fortresses created by the Crusaders occupying the Middle East The World of Castles and Forts Malcolm Day,1996 An illustrated history of castles and forts through the ages from Mycenaean citadels to bomb shelters
