The English Renaissance and the Far East Adele Lee, 2017-10-25 The English Renaissance and the Far East Cross Cultural Encounters is an original and timely examination of cultural encounters between Britain, China, and Japan. It challenges accepted Anglocentric models of East-West relations and offers a radical reconceptualization of the English Renaissance, suggesting it was not so different from current developments in an increasingly Sinocentric world and that, as China in particular returns to a global center stage that it last occupied pre-1800, a curious and overlooked synergy exists between the early modern and the present. Prompted by the current eastward tilt in global power, in particular towards China, Adele Lee examines cultural interactions between Britain and the Far East in both the early modern and postmodern periods. She explores how key encounters with and representations of the Far East are described in early modern writing and demonstrates how work of that period, particularly Shakespeare, has a special power today to facilitate encounters between Britain and East Asia. Readers will find the past illuminating the present and vice versa in a book that has at its heart resonances between Renaissance and present-day cultural exchanges and which takes a cyclical long view of history to offer a new, innovative approach to a subject of contemporary importance.

Economy, Family, and Society from Rome to Islam Simon Swain, 2013-04-25 Bryson's Management of the Estate (Oikonomikos Logos) offers advice on the key private concerns of the Roman elite: getting rich, managing slaves, love, and marriage, and bringing up children. This estate owner is a farmer and a merchant making his money through good and effective business. His wife is co-owner of the estate and their love promotes material prosperity. Their child needs twenty-four-hour supervision in all his affairs. Bryson's book was almost certainly written in the mid-first century AD but survives mainly in Arabic. It had a profound effect on Islamic thinking on the economy and on marriage but is virtually unknown to classicists. This new edition of the text, together with the first English translation, will appeal to Roman social and economic historians, students of imperial Greek literature, and all those interested in the development of Greco-Roman thought in the Islamic empire of the Middle Ages.

Drawing Futures Bob Sheil, Frédéric Migayrou, Luke Pearson, Laura Allen, 2016-11-11 Drawing Futures brings together international designers and artists for speculations in contemporary drawing for art and architecture. Despite numerous developments in technological manufacture and computational design that provide new grounds for designers, the act of drawing still plays a central role as a vehicle for speculation. There is a rich and long history of drawing tied to innovations in technology as well as to revolutions in our philosophical understanding of the world. In reflection of a society now underpinned by computational networks and interfaces allowing hitherto unprecedented views of the world, the changing status of the drawing and its representation as a political act demands a platform for reflection and innovation. Drawing Futures will present a compendium of projects, writings, and interviews that critically reassess the act of drawing.

and where its future may lie Drawing Futures focuses on the discussion of how the field of drawing may expand synchronously alongside technological and computational developments The book coincides with an international conference of the same name taking place at The Bartlett School of Architecture UCL in November 2016 Bringing together practitioners from many creative fields the book discusses how drawing is changing in relation to new technologies for the production and dissemination of ideas
