

The background of the slide is a dark blue and black image featuring a complex circuit board layout. Red lines represent the PCB traces, forming various patterns including straight lines, right-angle turns, and dense, parallel serpentine sections. In the upper right corner, a small portion of a yellow component, possibly a resistor or capacitor, is visible. On the left side, there is a semi-transparent dark blue overlay containing the Altium logo and some faint, illegible text.
