Desert Passions Orientalism And Romance Novels:

Desert Passions Hsu-Ming Teo, 2012-11-15 The Sheik E M Hull's best selling novel that became a wildly popular film starring Rudolph Valentino kindled sheik fever across the Western world in the 1920s. A craze for all things romantically Oriental swept through fashion, film, and literature, spawning imitations and parodies without number. While that fervor has largely subsided, tales of passion between Western women and Arab men continue to enthrall readers of today's mass market romance novels. In this groundbreaking cultural history, Hsu Ming Teo traces the literary lineage of these desert romances and historical bodice rippers from the twelfth to the twenty-first century and explores the gendered cultural and political purposes that they have served at various historical moments. Drawing on high literature, erotica, and popular romance fiction and films, Teo examines the changing meanings of Orientalist tropes such as crusades and conversion, abduction by Barbary pirates, sexual slavery, the fear of renegades, the Oriental despot, and his harem, the figure of the powerful Western concubine, and fantasies of escape from the harem. She analyzes the impact of imperialism, decolonization, sexual liberation, feminism, and American involvement in the Middle East on women's Orientalist fiction. Teo suggests that the rise of female-authored romance novels dramatically transformed the nature of Orientalism because it feminized the discourse, made white women central as producers, consumers, and imagined actors, and revised, reversed, or collapsed the binaries inherent in traditional analyses of Orientalism.

Included are alphabetically arranged reference entries on significant authors, along with works, themes, and other topics. The articles are written by scholars, librarians, and industry professionals with a deep knowledge of the genre and so provide a thorough understanding of the subject. An index provides easy access to information within the entries, and bibliographies at the end of each entry, a general bibliography, and a suggested romance reading list allow for further study of Conflict and Colonialism in 21st Century Romantic Historical Fiction Hsu-Ming Teo, Paloma Fresno-Calleja, 2024-06-13 This book explores how postmillennial Anglophone women writers use romantic narrativisations of history to explore revise repurpose and challenge the past in their novels exposing the extent to which past societies were damaging to women by instead imagining alternative histories The novelists discussed employ the generic conventions of romance to narrate their understanding of historical and contemporary injustice and to reflect upon women's achievements and the price they paid for autonomy and a life of public purpose The volume seeks firstly to discuss the work of revision or reparation being performed by romantic historical fiction and secondly to analyse how the past is being repurposed for use in the present It contends that the discourses and genre of romance work to provide a reparative reading of the past but there are limitations and entrenched problems in such readings

Heartthrobs Carol Dyhouse, 2017 What can a cultural history of the heartthrob teach us about women desire and social change From dreams of Prince Charming or dashing military heroes to the lure of dark strangers and vampire lovers from rock stars and rebels to soulmates dependable family types or simply good companions female fantasies about men tell us as much about the history of women as about masculine icons When girls were supposed to be shrinking violets passionate females risked being seen as unbridled or dangerously out of control Change came slowly and young women remained trapped in double binds You may have needed a husband in order to survive but you had to avoid looking like a gold digger Sexual desire could be dangerous a rash guide to making choices Show attraction too openly and you might be judged fast and undesirable Education and wage earning brought independence and a widening of cultural horizons Young women in the early twentieth century showed a sustained appetite for novel reading cinema going and the dancehall They sighed over Rudolph Valentino's screen performances as tango dancer Arab tribesman or desert lover Contemporary critics were sniffy about shop girl taste in literature and in men but as consumers girls had new clout In Heartthrobs social and cultural historian Carole Dyhouse draws upon literature cinema and popular romance to show how the changing position of women has shaped their dreams about men from Lord Byron in the early nineteenth century to boy bands in the early twenty first Reflecting on the history of women as consumers and on the nature of fantasy escapism and fandom she takes us deep into the world of gender and the imagination A great deal of feminist literature has shown women as objects of the male gaze this book looks at men through the eyes of women
