

Genetics Worksheet

Part 1 Introduction:

- Describe the genotypes given (use your notes). The first two are already done.
 - DD homozygous, dominant
 - Dd heterozygous
 - dd _____
 - ss _____
 - Yy _____
 - WW _____
- In humans, brown eye color (B), is dominant over blue eye color (b). What are the phenotypes of the following genotypes? In other words, what color eyes will they have?
 - BB _____
 - bb _____
 - Bb _____

The Five (5) Steps Associated With Solving a Genetics Problem:

If you take the time to follow the directions below, you will be able to solve most genetics problems.

- Determine the genotypes of the parents or whatever is given in problem.
- Set up your Punnett square as follows: *# sq. based on possible gametes that can be formed.

- Fill in the squares. This represents the possible combinations that could occur during fertilization.
- Write out the possible genotypic ratio of the offspring.
- Using the genotypic ratio determine the phenotypic ratio for the offspring.

Part 2: Sample Problem (Just read this over, it is a practice problem)

A heterozygous male, black eyed mouse is crossed with a red eyed, female mouse. Predict the possible offspring!

- Step 1: Determine the genotype of the parents. The male parent is heterozygous which means he has one allele for black eyes and one allele for red eyes. Since his eyes are black, this means that black allele must be dominant over the red allele. So the male parents genotype is "Bb" (B = allele for black eye, b = allele for red eye). The female parent has red eyes, there is only one way to have this recessive phenotype, so she must be homozygous recessive. Homozygous recessive means that her genotype must be "bb". Therefore, genotype of the parents is Bb x bb.

Maimon, 2013-04-17 Formal Design Theory PDT is a mathematical theory of design The main goal of PDT is to develop a domain independent core model of the design process The book focuses the reader's attention on the process by which ideas originate and are developed into workable products In developing PDT we have been striving toward what has been expressed by the distinguished scholar Simon 1969 that the science of design is possible and some day we will be able to talk in terms of well established theories and practices The book is divided into five interrelated parts The conceptual approach is presented first Part I followed by the theoretical foundations of PDT Part II and from which the algorithmic and pragmatic implications are deduced Part III Finally detailed case studies illustrate the theory and the methods of the design process Part IV and additional practical considerations are evaluated Part V The generic nature of the concepts theory and methods are validated by examples from a variety of disciplines FDT explores issues such as algebraic representation of design artifacts idealized design process cycle and computational analysis and measurement of design process complexity and quality FDT's axioms convey the assumptions of the theory about the nature of artifacts and potential modifications of the artifacts in achieving desired goals or functionality By being able to state these axioms explicitly it is possible to derive theorems and corollaries as well as to develop specific analytical and constructive methodologies
