Curriculum Theory, Curriculum Theorising, and the Theoriser, 2020-12-29 Curriculum studies is at the core of the educational endeavour and informs what happens in every educational institution As a result of its criticality or primacy every educational practitioner appears to claim expertise in curriculum

matters and what direction the field should take In Africa the curriculum practitioner has been given little or no space to theorise and orient the future of the field in Africa Instead European and American curriculum theorists have been allowed to exert a marked influence on the nature and direction of African theoretical and philosophical underpinnings This situation raises fundamental questions about the future of education in Africa and this volume explores and answers these questions relating to curriculum theory theorising and the theoriser by breaking traditions and experimenting on alternative approaches and pathways Contributors are Aruna Ankiah Gangadeen Lynn Biggs Eunice Champion Taryn Isaacs De Vega Kehdinga George Fomunyam Nadaraj Govender Angela James Simon Bheki Khoza Noma China Kubashe Nehemiah Latolla Jacqui L ck Dumisa Celumusa Mabuza Simeon Maile Suriamurthee Maistry Makhulu A Makumane Zvisinei Moyo Cedric Bheki Mpungose Pascal Nadal Blanche Ntombizodwa Ndlovu Christopher Ndlovu Emily Mangwaya Ndlovu Nellie Ngcongco James Deirdre Pratt Mukhtar Raban Nolundi Radana Makhosazana Edith Shoba Mahlapahlapana Themane Molaodi Tshelane and Denise Zinn

Practical Wisdom and Democratic Education Samantha Broadhead, Margaret Gregson, 2018-02-20 This book explores the development of practical wisdom or phronesis within the stories of four mature students studying for degrees in art and design Through an analysis informed by the ideas of Basil Bernstein and Aristotle the authors propose that phronesis or the ability to deliberate well should be an intrinsic part of a democratic education As a number of vocational and academic disciplines require deliberation and the ability to draw on knowledge character and experience it is essential that no student feels their experience puts them at a disadvantage The authors argue that democratic education should allow each participant to feel enhanced included and able to participate in order to create a constructive and reciprocal dialogue This work will be of value to students and scholars interested in democratic education the experiences of non traditional students and the sociology of education

Bringing Talk to Life: Thinking Through Dialogue in The Classroom Paul Gurton, Meghan Tipping, 2024-12-20 Do you want to encourage purposeful talk between students in your classroom but feel you do not have the time or the permission Do you wish you had more opportunity to listen to your students and include discussion of pressing and controversial issues in their lives and society today in your curriculum Amidst rising recognition of how being articulate improves life chances this book takes a look at these questions outlining an alternative approach to curriculum and pedagogy Bringing Talk to Life is firmly grounded in classroom experience and research evidence and explores how a dialogic approach to teaching can improve students confidence and agency and restore teachers professional judgement It outlines the social and linguistic barriers some students find in accessing knowledge through the school curriculum and identifies ways that teachers can help them become more confident and articulate by modelling different behavioural norms and introducing concept vocabulary in an accessible way Using transcripts of classroom dialogues teachers plans and examples of students work chapters show by contrast that a talk focussed enquiry curriculum can free up teachers and pupils to explore ideas together reigniting curiosity Examples of this dialogic approach come from primary classrooms where Philosophy for Children P4C is adapted to suit a school's aims and curriculum. In addition, there are chapters on how talk is used in further and higher education to develop students' critical thinking skills. Designed to stimulate thinking and debate and restore teachers' confidence in their own professional judgement, this book is intended for those training to be teachers. It will also be of interest for schools that are keen to learn how to include more talk in their curriculum and experienced practitioners who feel that there is another way to plan and teach.

Modern Mathematics
Dirk De Bock, 2023-03-08. The international New Math developments between about 1950 through 1980 are regarded by many mathematics educators and education historians as the most historically important development in curricula of the twentieth century. It attracted the attention of local and international politicians, teachers, and of parents and influenced the teaching and learning of mathematics at all levels, kindergarten to college graduate, in many nations. After garnering much initial support, it began to attract criticism. But as Bill Jacob and the late Jerry Becker show in Chapter 17, some of the effects became entrenched. This volume, edited by Professor Dirk De Bock of Belgium, provides an outstanding overview of the New Math/modern mathematics movement. Chapter authors provide exceptionally high quality analyses of the rise of the movement and of subsequent developments within a range of nations. The first few chapters show how the initial leadership came from mathematicians in European nations and in the United States of America. The background leaders in Europe were Caleb Gattegno and members of a mysterious group of mainly French pure mathematicians who, since the 1930s, had published under the name of a fictitious Nicolas Bourbaki. In the United States, there emerged during the 1950s various attempts to improve U.S. mathematics curricula and teaching, especially in secondary schools and colleges. This side of the story climaxed in 1957 when the Soviet Union succeeded in launching Sputnik, the first satellite. Undoubtedly, this is a landmark publication in education. The foreword was written by Professor Bob Moon, one of a few other scholars to have written on the New Math from an international perspective. The final epilogue chapter by Professor Geert Vanpaemel, a historian, draws together the overall thrust of the volume and makes links with the general history of curriculum development, especially in science education, including recent globalization trends.
