Concrete Regionalism 4x4 Series:

Concrete Regionalism Catherine Slessor, 2000 Concrete's structural strength and visual variety combined with the particulars of place and culture have allowed Tadao Ando Osaka Ricardo Legorreta Mexico City Antoine Predock Albuquerque USA and Wiel Arets The Netherlands to realize progressive and seminal forms The buildings of these four lauded architects sensitively respond to their environments while nevertheless functioning as monumental symbols that transcend their immediate surroundings Although they have established large international practices the approaches of the four architects have enabled them to forge an architectonic language that is both solid and meaningful From Predock's sensitive interpretations of America's southwest desert to Ando's graceful intervention in natural and urban contexts from Legorreta's bold representations of Mexico's rich pre-Columbian heritage to Arets's cool second modernist forms each architect's highly individual vision has created unique buildings for people and their environments In one sense the result of local conditions the buildings in Concrete Regionalism also seem to exist out of time and place constant reminders that there persists in architecture a search for enduring form

Antoine Predock is generally acknowledged as the premier architect practicing in the Southwest although he also has projects in Denmark France Spain and Morocco He is known for a philosophical ethos that does not privilege architecture over environment but fosters a relationship in which a building is analogous to the landscape in which it is set Predock's use of such natural materials as adobe and sand-colored stone demonstrate an appreciation for local historical precedent as well as a concern for environmental soundness however he is in the vanguard in his use of the most technologically advanced methods of construction Drawing from the pulse of the land Predock's work embraces uniqueness of site referencing local history culture myths and people This monograph features his latest work including Highland Ponds in Aspen Austin City Hall in Texas the Tacoma Art Museum and Shadow House in Santa Fe among others Antoine Predock has taught at universities in Italy and Argentina as well as at Harvard University Southern California Institute of Architecture and UCLA He has won many awards for his work including the Rome Prize of the American Academy in Rome National Honor Awards from the American Institute of Architecture AIA and the Gran Premio Internacional de Arquitectura de Buenos Aires De Architect ,2000 Concrete Roads Cement and Concrete Association, 1955
