higher education      Emotional Labour and Lesson Observation Ursula Edgington, 2016-11-21 This book presents research on emotion work and the emotional labour of teaching and learning based in England's further education sector where an increasing emphasis on marketised systems means accountability and audit cultures have become embedded within everyday teaching practice. Uniquely, this book explores micro-level issues of the managerial policies relating to classroom lesson observations as well as the profoundly emotional philosophical aspects of these situations which research asserts cause stress and anxiety for many staff. Drawing on theoretical psychosocial concepts exploring the interplay of hidden or underground micro and macro elements of teaching and learning contexts, the book illuminates how the presence of an observer fundamentally alters the dynamics of a classroom. The author argues that it is not necessarily the performativity that creates the stress and anxiety in an observation but the individual's perception of this performativity and how it relates to a wider consideration of their emotional labour in the classroom. For this reason, the book puts forward a case for ending the formal graded method of lesson observations in favour of a developmental holistic approach that is sensitive to the emotional nuances of the individuals involved as well as the social and historical contexts of the institutions in which they are situated. The diverse use of lesson observations as a tool for staff development and quality assurance policies make this a valuable resource for educational researchers, policy makers, teachers and managers from many different sectors and backgrounds.

Mentoring New Teachers in Post-Compulsory Education Paul Euripides Demetriou, 2025-11-28 Providing a comprehensive guide to mentoring and professional development in the post-compulsory sector where educators play a crucial role in shaping the lives of young adult learners, this invaluable resource explores the transformative power of mentoring relationships. It equips mentors and mentees with the tools and techniques necessary to foster growth and unlock their utmost potential. The book explores the evolving expectations and demands placed on educators in this sector and emphasises the crucial role of mentoring in supporting their professional growth and success. Readers will discover the importance of developing a solid mentoring framework, understanding the needs of mentees and nurturing effective communication. Through nurturing supportive and dynamic mentoring relationships, educators will learn how to empower new teachers and create an environment of trust, respect and collaboration. With practical advice, inspiring stories and step-by-step guidance, this book empowers educators and mentors to navigate the challenging yet rewarding journey of professional growth. It is an invaluable tool for anyone seeking to make a lasting impact on the lives of learners, promote excellence and cultivate a thriving educational community in the post-compulsory sector.      Observation in Health and Social Care Clare
