Sweden and National Liberation in Southern Africa Tor Sellström,1999 In 1969 the Swedish parliament endorsed a policy of direct assistance to the liberation movements in Southern Africa Sweden thus became the first Western country to enter into a relationship with organizations that elsewhere in the West were shunned as Communist or terrorist This book the first in a two volume study on Sweden the regional struggles for majority rule national independence traces the background to the relationship Presenting the actors factors behind the support to MPLA of Angola FRELIMO of Mozambique SWAPO of Namibia ZANU ZAPU of Zimbabwe ANC of South Africa it addresses the question why Sweden established close relations with the very movements that eventually would assume state power in their respective countries The second volume later this year will discuss how the support was expressed covering the period from 1970 until the democratic elections in South Africa in 1994

British Sporting Relations with Apartheid South Africa Matthew P. Llewellyn,Toby C. Rider,2024-11-25 The transnational anti apartheid sport boycott of South Africa represented the most prominent extended and controversial anti racism campaign in the history of sport Spearheaded by prominent British religious and anti colonial figures and exiled South Africans emboldened by communist and Global South support and legitimised by supranational political bodies such as the United Nations the Organisation of African Unity and the Commonwealth the sport boycott helped propel anti apartheid out of relative obscurity and struck at the very heart of a cultural practice that served an explicitly ideological function in Afrikaner society Britain held a dichotomous even paradoxical role as both prosecutor and defender of white South Africa This book utilises sport as a critical lens for understanding the dynamics and dichotomies of British attitudes towards the apartheid regime Debates over whether to continue or to cut sporting links with apartheid South Africa proved bitterly divisive The considerable weight the subject carried and the degree to which it saturated British political and social discourse for four decades speaks to its impact and importance British Sporting Relations with Apartheid South Africa represents the first archival based historical examination of Britain s sporting relations with South Africa throughout the apartheid era 1948 1994 Situating the analysis within the shifting multiracial and multicultural landscapes of postcolonial Britain and within global political cultural sporting and ideological debates the authors trace the origins and evolution of the transnational sport boycott and examine what inspired Britons to energise anti apartheid sport campaigns and in contrast what drove many others to vehemently oppose them at every turn
