Computer Assisted Research Design And Analysis:

Computer-assisted Research Design and Analysis Barbara G. Tabachnick, 2001 Handbook of Research Design and Social Measurement Delbert C. Miller, Neil J. Salkind, 2002-01-16

If a student researcher had only one handbook on their bookshelf Miller and Salkind's Handbook would certainly have to be it. With the updated material the addition of the section on ethical issues which is so well done that I'm recommending it to the departmental representative to the university IRB and a new Part 4 on Qualitative Methods the new Handbook is an indispensable resource for researchers.

Dan Cover
Department of Sociology
Furman University

I have observed that most instructors want to teach methodology their way to imbue the course with their own approach. Miller Salkind allows one to do this easily. The book is both conceptually strong and has very good coverage of epistemology, research design and statistics and at the same time provides a wealth of practical knowledge, scales, indices, professional organizations, computer applications etc. In addition it covers the waterfront of methodology.

Michael L. Vasu
Director of Information Technology
North Carolina State University

A unique and excellent reference tool for all social science researchers and a good textbook for graduate students and senior year undergraduate classes. These students are about to enter the real life of research and need a handy and comprehensive tool as a starting point that offers shortcuts for getting into real research projects. For a small project the book offers enough information to get the project started. For big projects the book is ideal for information on where to look for things and examples.

Jianhong Liu
Department of Sociology
Rhode Island College

The book considered a necessity by many social science researchers and their students has been revised and updated while retaining the features that made it so useful. The emphasis in this new edition is on the tools graduate students and more advanced researchers need to conduct high quality research.
