Criminal Justice A Very Short Introduction Very Short Introductions:

Criminal Justice: A Very Short Introduction Julian V. Roberts, 2015-08-27 The criminal justice system is wide ranging from the crimes themselves and policing to the sentencing of offenders and prisons In this Very Short Introduction Julian V Roberts draws upon the latest research and current practices from a number of different countries around the world Focusing on the adversarial model of justice found in common law countries such as the United States United Kingdom Canada and Australia he discusses topics such as the uses of imprisonment the effects of capital punishment and the purposes of sentencing Considering the role of the victim throughout the criminal justice system as well as public knowledge and attitudes towards criminal justice Roberts critically assesses the way in which the system functions and its importance around the world ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable Criminal Justice a Very Short Introduction Oxford Editor, 2026-05-28

Criminology: A Very Short Introduction Tim Newburn, 2018-04-19 Crime is big news From murder to theft to drug gangs crime and criminal justice affect the lives of millions of people worldwide Hardly surprisingly crime has been pushed high up the public policy agenda across the world But how can we measure crime or evaluate the effectiveness of preventative measures Does the threat of prison reduce someone's likelihood of reoffending or would rehabilitation be more constructive In this Very Short Introduction Tim Newburn considers how we can study trends in crime and use them to inform preventative policy and criminal justice Analysing the history of the subject he reflects on our understanding of crime and responses to crime in earlier historical periods Considering trends in crime in the developed world Newburn discusses its causes exploring the relationship between drugs and crime analysing what we know about why people stop offending and looking at both formal and informal responses to crime Newburn concludes by discussing what role criminology can plausibly be anticipated to have in crime control and politics and what its limits are ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable Racism: A Very Short Introduction Ali Rattansi, 2007-03-22 Racism exists in many different forms in almost every facet of society This Very Short Introduction demystifies the subject and explores its history science and culture Shedding light on how racism has evolved since its earliest beginnings and examining the notion of race from a modern genetic viewpoint Ali Rattansi considers the numerous embodiments of racism from ethnic cleansing and cultural imperialism to discrimination in politics and everyday life Criminal Justice, Wildlife Conservation and Animal Rights in the Anthropocene Ragnhild A. Sollund, Martine S.B. Lie, 2024-02-27 This book addresses one of today's most urgent issues the loss of wildlife and habitat which together constitute an ecological crisis Combining studies from different disciplines such as law political science and criminology with a focus on animal rights the chapters explore the successes and failures of the international wildlife conservation and trade treaties CITES and the BERN Convention While these conventions have played a crucial role in protecting endangered species from trade and in the rewilding of European large carnivores the case studies in this book demonstrate huge variations in their implementation and enforcement across Europe In conclusion the book advocates for a non anthropocentric policy approach to strengthen wildlife conservation in Europe

Forming a Global Community Joseph de Rivera, 2022-10-18 To address global problems such as pandemics warming economic inequality mass migration and widespread terrorism Joseph de Rivera argues that we must form a global community A community of eight billion humans is difficult to conceive However it can be imagined and created if we transform our understanding of who humans are and what community entails We can understand who persons are how they are motivated and how a community can be conceived in a way that offers an alternative to individualism and collectivism The mutualism that is proposed provides a moral compass for navigating the challenges that confront us and encourages specific governing structures political economies and rituals that will further the formation of a global community Based on the philosophical analysis of John Macmurray the author's argument relies on an extensive review of the current literature on self personhood emotional motivation social identity forms of community and religious and secular rituals Interdisciplinary in nature it aims to direct philosophy and the social sciences to the challenges of globalism and the creation of a global community
