President's Commission on Pension Policy, 1981 The Last Segregated Hour Stephen R. Skipper, 2014-01-10 In the summer of 1964 three forces converged at the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City New Jersey each with the potential to shake the moorings of traditional democracy the all white segregationist delegation from Mississippi a mostly black delegation determined to unseat the segregationists and President Lyndon Johnson who had signed the civil rights bill but wanted to avoid trouble that could jeopardize his chances of carrying the South in the November election These groups struggled to reach a compromise that in the end epitomized sheer political power and its consequences By examining the motivations of those involved this work explores how American politics and the civil rights movement clashed at the convention how the federal government felt compelled to spy on its own people for purely political purposes and how this interlude changed the political landscape for generations Coming of Age in Mississippi by Anne Moody Anne Moody, 1976 Stigma Imogen Tyler, 2020-04-15 Stigma is a corrosive social force by which individuals and communities throughout history have been systematically dehumanised scapegoated and oppressed From the literal stigmatizing tattooing of criminals in ancient Greece to modern day discrimination against Muslims refugees and the undeserving poor stigma has long been a means of securing the interests of powerful elites In this radical reconceptualisation Tyler precisely and passionately outlines the political function of stigma as an instrument of state coercion Through an original social and economic reframing of the history of stigma Tyler reveals stigma as a political practice illuminating previously forgotten histories of resistance against stigmatization boldly arguing that these histories provide invaluable insights for understanding the rise of authoritarian forms of government today
