Evidence-based Conservation Terry C. H. Sunderland, Jeffrey Sayer, Minh Ha Hoang, 2013 The basis of this book is the disparity between the science of conservation biology and the design and execution of biodiversity conservation projects in the field The book argues for an evidence based approach drawing information from fifteen projects in the Lower Mekong regions with the aim of allowing more effective integrated conservation projects

A New Era for Collaborative Forest Management William H. Butler, Courtney A. Schultz, 2019-01-15 This book assesses the Collaborative Forest Landscape Restoration Program CFLRP and identifies lessons learned for governance and policy through this new and innovative approach to collaborative forest management Unlike anything else in US public land management the CFLRP is a nationwide program that requires collaboration throughout the life of national forest restoration projects joining agency partners and local stakeholder groups in a kind of decade long restoration marriage This book provides a comprehensive assessment of the governance dynamics of the program examining questions about collaborative governance processes and the dynamics of trust accountability and capacity how scientific information is used in making decisions and integrated into adaptive management processes and the topic of collaboration through implementation an underdeveloped area of collaborative governance literature Bringing together chapters from a community of social science and policy researchers who have conducted studies across multiple CFLRP projects this volume generates insights not just about the program but also about dynamics that are central to collaborative and landscape approaches to land management and relevant for broader practice This volume is a timely and important contribution to environmental governance scholarship It will be of interest to researchers and students of natural resource management environmental governance and forestry as well as practitioners and policy makers involved in forest and ecosystem restoration efforts and collaborative natural resource management more broadly Unasylva, 2007 Adaptive Collaborative Management in Forest Landscapes Carol J. Pierce Colfer, Ravi Prabhu, Anne M. Larson, 2021-12-12 This book examines the value of Adaptive Collaborative Management for facilitating learning and collaboration with local communities and beyond utilising detailed studies of forest landscapes and communities Many forest management proposals are based on top down strategies such as the Million Tree Initiatives Forest Landscape Restoration FLR and REDD often neglecting local communities In the context of the climate crisis it is imperative that local peoples and communities are an integral part of all decisions relating to resource management Rather than being seen as beneficiaries or people to be safeguarded they should be seen as full partners and Adaptive Collaborative Management is an approach which priorities the rights and roles of communities alongside the need to address the environmental crisis The volume presents detailed case studies and real life examples from across the globe promoting and prioritizing the voices of women and scholars and practitioners from the Global South who are often under represented Providing concrete examples of ways that a bottom up approach can function to enhance development sustainably via its practitioners and far beyond the locale in which they initially worked this volume demonstrates the lasting utility of approaches like Adaptive Collaborative Management that emphasize local control inclusiveness and local creativity in management This book will be of great interest to students scholars and practitioners working in the fields of conservation forest management community development and natural resource management and development studies more broadly The Open Access version of this book available at www.taylorfrancis.com has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Forest Landscape Restoration Stephanie Mansourian, John Parrotta, 2018-09-03 Forest landscape restoration FLR is a planned process that aims to regain ecological integrity and enhance human wellbeing in deforested or degraded landscapes The aim of this book is to explore options to better integrate the diverse dimensions spatial disciplinary sectoral and scientific of implementing FLR It demonstrates the value of an integrated and interdisciplinary approach to help implement FLR focusing specifically on four issues understanding the drivers of forest loss and degradation in the context of interdisciplinary responses for FLR learning from related integrated approaches governance issues related to FLR as an integrated process and the management creation and use of different sources of knowledge in FLR implementation The emphasis is on recognising the need to take human and institutional factors into consideration as well as the more obvious biophysical factors A key aim is to advance and accelerate the practice of FLR given its importance particularly in a world facing increasing environmental challenges notably from climate change The first section of the book presents the issue from an analytical and problem orientated viewpoint while later sections focus on solutions It will interest researchers and professionals in forestry ecology geography environmental governance and landscape studies Special Issue: Governance, Landscapes and Livelihoods Jeffrey Stoike, 2013 Logjam David Humphreys, 2012-05-04 Winner of the International Studies Association's Harold and Margaret Sprout Award 2008 for the best book on international environmental problems This pioneering study examines the impacts of neoliberal global governance on forests and provides an exhaustive overview of international forest politics Intergovernmental Panel on Forests World Commission on Forests and Sustainable Development Intergovernmental Forum on Forests United Nations Forum on Forests Forest Certification New policies to address illegal logging World Bank's forests strategy Convention on Biological Diversity and other international forest related processes The book is an essential reference for students of global environmental politics and required reading for forest policy makers It concludes by arguing for a democratization of global governance and a fundamental restructuring of the regulatory environment so that final decision making authority is restored to the local level Driven by concern at what forest loss means for communities and future generations this is a book that stands to make a difference Changing Landscapes Duncan Poore, 2012-03-29 This is the history of the International Tropical Timber Organization ITTO its aims policies and achievements through drawing on contemporary records and the author's own wide experience The book uses examination of past successes and failures to formulate a 21st century agenda for the most practical ways of improving the management of forests and deciding forest policies
