

The painting 'The Face of War' by Salvador Dalí is a complex surrealist work. It features a large, central face of a man with a mustache, composed of various landscape elements. The face's features are defined by different scenes: a landscape with a river and trees on the left, a landscape with a bridge and a small town in the center, and a landscape with a body of water and a small island on the right. The face is set against a background of a vast, yellowish landscape with a grid of circular pools of water, each containing a small, dark, castle-like structure. The overall style is characteristic of Dalí's mature work, with a focus on dreamlike imagery and a rich, textured palette.
