reflection on the multifaceted journey towards equality      "Something Dreadful and Grand" Stephen Watt, 2015-06-02

Elaborate analogies between Irish and Jewish history between Irish and Jewish subjectivities occur with surprising frequency throughout American literature They recall James Joyce's Leopold Bloom and episodes of Ulysses Douglas Hyde's analogies during the Celtic Revival between learning Hebrew and learning Irish and a myriad of claims of an unusual relationship between these peoples that goes beyond comparisons of their respective diasporic histories But how does one describe this uncanny relationship one often marked by hostility affinity and ambivalence without essentializing people whose origins class affiliation educations life experiences and so on are enormously different Something Dreadful and Grand American Literature and the Irish Jewish Unconscious describes a complex allo-Semitism and allo-Irishness through a variety of cultural texts with which immigrant Irish and Jewish Americans were most engaged popular music of the Tin Pan Alley era tenement literature from Anzia Yezierska and James T Farrell through the posthumous publication of Henry Roth's An American Type and proletarian and socialist inflected drama by Elmer Rice Clifford Odets Eugene O'Neill and Arthur Miller as they engaged the Irish drama of such writers as Bernard Shaw and Sean O'Casey In an effort to trace both the genealogy and more recent trajectory of immigrant drama and fiction chapters explore both the post-Famine melodramatic stage of the nineteenth century and a host of more contemporary texts from newer generations of immigrants Throughout the book argues for a circum-North Atlantic culture in which texts from Ireland Britain Irish America and Jewish America contribute substantially to both a modern American literature and to understandings of the terms Irish and Jewish How can we really know what these terms mean as they delimit or erase totally the differences inherent to them Borrowing a term from psychoanalytic and political theory Something Dreadful and Grand explores the larger dimensions of this Irish Jewish unconscious underlying cultural production in America arguing for the centrality of these two diasporic groups to the development of American popular music fiction and especially drama      Lifting as We Climb Evette Dionne, 2022-01-04

For African American women the fight for the right to vote was only one battle This Coretta Scott King Author Honor Book and National Book Award longlisted work tells the important overlooked story of black women as a force in the suffrage movement when fellow suffragists did not accept them as equal partners in the struggle Susan B Anthony Elizabeth Cady Stanton Alice Paul The Women's Rights Convention at Seneca Falls The 1913 Women's March in D.C. When the epic story of the suffrage movement in the United States is told the most familiar leaders speakers at meetings and participants in marches written about or pictured are generally white That's not the real story Women of color especially African American women were fighting for their right to vote and to be treated as full equal citizens of the United States Their battlefield wasn't just about gender African American women had to deal with white abolitionist suffragists who drew the line at sharing power with their black sisters They had to overcome deep exclusionary racial prejudices that were rife in the American suffrage movement And they had to maintain their dignity and safety in a society that tried to keep them in its bottom ranks Lifting as We Climb is the empowering story of African American women who refused to accept all this Women in black church groups black female sororities black women s improvement societies and social clubs Women who formed their own black suffrage associations when white dominated national suffrage groups rejected them Women like Mary Church Terrell a founder of the National Association of Colored Women and of the NAACP or educator activist Anna Julia Cooper who championed women getting the vote and a college education or the crusading journalist Ida B Wells a leader in both the suffrage and anti lynching movements Author Evette Dionne a feminist culture writer and the editor in chief of Bitch Media has uncovered an extraordinary and underrepresented history of black women In her powerful book she draws an important historical line from abolition to suffrage to civil rights to contemporary young activists filling in the blanks of the American suffrage story
