De Ramp Nationale Uitgave Met Een Voorwoord Van Hm De Koningin:

De ramp. Nationale uitgave, met een voorwoord van H.M. de Koningin, 1953 Water Lotte Jensen, 2024-01-19

Floods are a fundamental part of Dutch history. Indeed, having tamed the threats associated with living below sea level is part of Dutch national identity. In the cultural depictions of these devastating events, however, national pride at a certain collective resilience goes hand in hand with the collective trauma of exposed vulnerability. All too often the Dutch were the losers in these battles against the elements. In a time of rising global sea levels, cultural scholar Lotte Jensen dives into the stories and images of the past to unpack this paradox for today. Over the centuries, large parts of the Netherlands have been progressively reclaimed from its river delta home. Throughout that process, the country suffered countless floods, a number of which were truly catastrophic, such as the Saint Elizabeth's Flood of 1421 or the North Sea Flood of 1953. Jensen describes how the Dutch have dealt with these disasters in practice but also in the imagination. It is the story of babies in floating cradles, fatherly monarchs, community fundraisers, and the boy who stuck his finger in the dike. Centuries before the nation-building associated with the 1800s, the Dutch created a unifying us-the-image of the Dutch lion against a them-the-waterwolf, the major threat which water embodied. This national feeling and narrative were crafted with a set repertoire of images, role models, heroes, and monarchs, charity, national and international solidarity, and a culture of remembrance. Jensen gives particular attention to the at-times-funny poems, books, and songs later criticized as clichéd or melodramatic, which these collective traumas inspired. She also demonstrates through monuments and works of art how this narrative has multiplied and acquired variations with time, right up to the present. Though once cast in a more religious light, the flood as punishment for a general lack of religious devotion, the waterwolf has become, for example, a collective responsibility for the environment that begins with lifestyle choices. Today the Netherlands lives with water more than it battles it; some thinkers even envisioning an amphibian future for the country. The stories and images of the past, however, reveal that precisely vulnerability can be fertile ground for solidarity and togetherness. With rising sea levels representing a growing threat, this well-researched and highly readable cultural history shows how over time a culture's imagination can gain new relevance beyond its borders. Acknowledging and building from a place of collective vulnerability might now be more important than ever.

Een koude oorlog Dirk Vellenga, 2011-06-14

In Een koude oorlog, reconstrueert Dirk Vellenga de Elfstedentocht van 1954, een wedstrijd waarvan de herinnering aan het tumultueuze verloop een aantal van de schaatsers die vooraan meestreden zelfs vijftig jaar na dato nog een kille huivering bezorgt. De auteur verzamelde de stof voor dit boek door de grote namen van toen op te zoeken en hun anekdotes ontberingen en snoeverij te noteren, voordat dit onmogelijk is geworden. Daarnaast sprak hij met allerlei anderen, ooggetuigen en nabestaanden van deelnemers, en bestudeerde hij nauwgezet de onlangs vrijgegeven archieven van de Elfstedenvereniging en een groot aantal andere bronnen, waaronder ook radio- en beeldmateriaal. Uit al dit materiaal kneedde Vellenga het uiterst levendige beeld van een wedstrijd van de voorbereidingen, de nerveuze nacht voor de tocht de kleding het eten en drinken tot en met de animositeit in het schaatserspeloton vol koppige eenlingen die elkaar voor geen cent vertrouwen Terloops ontstaat bovendien een haarscherp beeld van het begin van de onvergelykbare jaren vijftig Een koude oorlog is geschreven vanuit een consequent vertelperspectief dat de illusie biedt dat alles zich voltrekt terwijl je het boek leest 3 februari 1954 als een dag die nog beginnen moet Nationale Uitgave ,1953
