Midcentury Modern Art in Texas Katie Robinson Edwards, 2014-07-01 Before Abstract Expressionism of New York City was canonized as American postwar modernism the United States was filled with localized manifestations of modern art One such place where considerable modernist activity occurred was Texas where artists absorbed and interpreted the latest most radical formal lessons from Mexico the East Coast and Europe while still responding to the state's dramatic history and geography This barely known chapter in the story of American art is the focus of Midcentury Modern Art in Texas Presenting new research and artwork that has never before been published Katie Robinson Edwards examines the contributions of many modernist painters and sculptors in Texas with an emphasis on the era's most abstract and compelling artists Edwards looks first at the Dallas Nine and the 1936 Texas Centennial which offered local artists a chance to take stock of who they were and where they stood within the national artistic setting She then traces the modernist impulse through various manifestations including the foundations of early Texas modernism in Houston early practitioners of abstraction and non objectivity the Fort Worth Circle artists at the University of Texas at Austin Houston artists in the 1950s sculpture in and around an influential Fort Worth studio and to see how some Texas artists fared on a national scale the Museum of Modern Art's Americans exhibitions The first full length treatment of abstract art in Texas during this vital and canon defining period Midcentury Modern Art in Texas gives these artists their due place in American art while also valuing the quality of Texan-ness that subtly undergirds much of their production of Art's permanent collection is both a tribute to Alfred Heber Holbrook the museum's founder and a record of his legacy which began in 1945 when he gave one hundred works of American art to the people of Georgia through its flagship university. These works formed the foundation of the museum's current collection of more than 8 000 art objects. Published to coincide with the museum's grand reopening in January 2011 after a 30 000 square foot expansion this catalogue features one hundred significant American paintings that for the first time will be on continual display in the building's new permanent collection galleries. This publication is supported in part by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

The American Scene on Paper Harry Katz, 2008 American Women Modernists Robert Henri, Marian Wardle, Sarah Burns, Brigham Young University. Museum of Art, 2005. The seven essays included in this volume move beyond the famed Ashcan School to recover the lesser known work of Robert Henri's women students. The contributors who include well known scholars of art history, American studies and cultural studies demonstrate how these women participated in the modernizing of women's roles during this era.

Ben Shahn's New Deal Murals Diana L. Linden, 2015-10-15. A study of Ben Shahn's New Deal murals 1933-43 in the context of American Jewish history, labor history and public discourse. Lithuanian born artist Ben Shahn learned fresco painting as an assistant to Diego Rivera in the 1930s and created his own visually powerful, technically sophisticated and stylistically innovative artworks as part of the New Deal Arts Project's national mural program. In Ben Shahn's New Deal Murals, Jewish Identity in the American Scene, author Diana L. Linden demonstrates that Shahn mined his Jewish heritage and left leaning politics for his style and subject matter, offering insight into his murals' creation and their sometimes complicated reception by officials, the public and the press. In four chapters, Linden presents case studies of select Shahn murals that were created from 1933 to 1943 and are located in public buildings in New York, New Jersey and Missouri. She studies Shahn's famous untitled fresco for the Jersey Homesteads, a utopian socialist cooperative community populated with former Jewish garment workers and funded under the New Deal. Shahn's mural for the Bronx Central Post Office, a fresco Shahn proposed to the post office in St. Louis and a related one panel easel painting titled The First Amendment located in a Queens New York post office. By investigating the role of Jewish identity in Shahn's works, Linden considers the artist's responses to important issues of the era such as President Roosevelt's opposition to open immigration to the United States, New York's bustling garment industry and its labor unions' ideological concerns about freedom and liberty that had significant meaning to Jews, and the encroachment of censorship into American art. Linden shows that throughout his public murals, Shahn literally painted Jews into the American scene with his subjects, themes and compositions. Readers interested in Jewish American history, art history and Depression era American culture will enjoy this insightful volume.
