A Close Look at Close Reading Barbara Moss,Diane Lapp,Maria Grant,Kelly Johnson,2015-05-21 The Common Core State Standards have put close reading in the spotlight as never before While middle and high school teachers want and need students to connect with analyze and learn from both literary and informational texts many are unsure how to foster the skills students must have in order to develop deep and nuanced understanding of complicated content Is there a process to follow How is close reading different from shared reading and other common literacy practices How do you prepare students to have their ability to analyze complex texts measured by high stakes assessments And how do you fit close reading instruction and experiences into an already crowded curriculum Text complexity and how to determine if a particular text is right for your learning purposes and your students The process and purpose of close reading with an emphasis on its role in developing the 21st century thinking speaking and writing skills essential for academic communication and college and career readiness How to plan teach and manage close reading sessions across the academic disciplines including the kinds of questions to ask texts to use and supports to provide How to assess close reading and help all students regardless of linguistic cultural or academic background connect deeply with what they read and derive meaning from complex texts Equipping students with the tools and process of close reading sets them on the road to becoming analytical and critical thinkers and empowered and independent learners In this comprehensive resource you ll find everything you need to start their journey

Hollywood or History? Scott L. Roberts,Charles J. Elfer,2021-01-01 The challenges of teaching history are acute where we consider the world history classroom Generalized world history courses are a part of many if not most K 12 curricular frameworks in the United States While United States history tends to dominate the scholarship and conversation there are an equally wide number of middle level and secondary students and teachers engaged in the study of world history in our public schools And the challenges are real In the first place if we are to mark content coverage as a curricular obstacle in the history classroom generally then we must underscore that concern in the world history classroom and for obvious reasons The curricular terrain to choose from is immense and forever expanding dealing with the development of numerous civilizations over millennia and across a wide geographic expanse In addition to curricular concerns world historical topics are inherently farther away from most students lives not just temporally but often geographically and culturally Thus the rationale for the present text Hollywood or History An Inquiry Based Strategy for Using Film to Teach World History The reviews of the first volume Hollywood or History An Inquiry Based Strategy for Using Film to Teach United States History strategy have been overwhelmingly positive especially as it pertains to the application of the strategy for practitioner Classroom utility and teacher practice have remained our primary objectives in developing the Hollywood or History strategy and we are encouraged by the possibilities of Volume II and the capacity of this most recent text to impact teaching and learning in world history We believe that students connection to film along with teachers ability to use film in an effective manner will help alleviate some of the challenges of teaching world history The book provides 30 secondary lesson plans grades 6 12 that address nine eras in world history Hollywood or History? Paul J. Yoder, Aaron P. Johnson, 2022-05-01 Traumagenic events episodes that have caused or are likely to cause trauma color the experiences of K 12 students and the social studies curriculum they encounter in U S schools At the same time that the global COVID 19 pandemic has heightened educators awareness of collective trauma the racial reckoning of 2020 has drawn important attention to historical and transgenerational trauma At a time when social studies educators can simply no longer ignore difficult knowledge instruction that acknowledges trauma in social studies classrooms is essential Through employing relational pedagogies and foregrounding voices that are too often silenced the lessons in Hollywood or History An Inquiry Based Strategy for Using Film to Acknowledge Trauma in Social Studies engage students in examining the role of traumatic or traumagenic events in social studies curriculum The 20 Hollywood or History lessons are organized by themes such as political trauma and war and genocide Each lesson presents film clips instructional strategies and primary and secondary sources targeted to the identified K 12 grade levels As a collection they provide ready to teach resources that are perfect for teachers who are committed to acknowledging trauma in their social studies instruction
