Symbolic Blackness and Ethnic Difference in Early Christian Literature Gay L. Byron, 2002 How were early Christians influenced by contemporary assumptions about ethnic and colour differences Why were early Christian writers so attracted to the subject of Blacks Egyptians and Ethiopians Looking at the neglected issue of race brings valuable new perspectives to the study of the ancient world now Gay Byron's exciting work is the first to survey and theorise Blacks Egyptians and Ethiopians in Christian antiquity By combining innovative theory and methodology with a detailed survey of early Christian writings Byron shows how perceptions about ethnic and color differences influenced the discursive strategies of ancient Christian authors She demonstrates convincingly that in spite of the contention that Christianity was to extend to all peoples certain groups of Christians were marginalized and rendered invisible and silent Original and pioneering this book will inspire discussion at every level encouraging a broader and more sophisticated understanding of early Christianity for scholars and students alike

Jonson, Shakespeare and Early Modern Virgil Margaret Tudeau-Clayton, 2006-11-23 Examines how Virgil is represented in early modern England particularly in Jonson's

and Shakespeare's writings Reflective Reading and the Power of Narrative Karyn Sproles, 2018-07-11 Reflective Reading and the Power of Narrative Producing the Reader is an interdisciplinary exploration into the profound power of narratives to create and recreate how we imagine ourselves. It posits that the process of producing a text also produces the reader. Written from the perspective of a psychoanalytic feminist, Sproles considers a wide array of examples from literature, popular culture, and her own experiences to illustrate what she calls reflective reading: a metacognitive reading practice that recognizes the workings of the unconscious to push the reader toward a potentially transformational engagement with narrative. This may manifest as epiphany, recovery from loss, or resolution of repressed trauma. Each chapter draws on examples of characters and authors who model a reflective reading process, from Jane Austen and Virginia Woolf to Johnny Cash and Alison Bechdel. By reclaiming the role of the unconscious, Karyn Sproles reinvigorates the theoretical work begun by reader response criticism and develops a deep understanding of identification and transference as an integral part of the reading process. For students and researchers of cultural studies, psychoanalysis, gender studies, and feminist literature and theory, Reflective Reading and the Power of Narrative offers innovative and accessible ideas on the relationship between reader and text. An Introduction to Literature, Criticism and Theory Andrew Bennett, Nicholas Royle, 2014-07-10 Fresh, original, and compelling, An Introduction to Literature, Criticism and Theory is the essential guide to literary studies. Starting at the beginning and concluding with the end, the book covers topics that range from the familiar (character, narrative, the author) to the more unusual (secrets, pleasure, ghosts). Eschewing abstractisms, Bennett and Royle successfully illuminate complex ideas by engaging directly with literary works, so that a reading of Jane Eyre opens up ways of thinking about racial difference, whilst Chaucer, Raymond Chandler, and Monty Python are all invoked in a discussion of literary laughter. Each chapter ends with a narrative guide to further reading, and the book also includes a glossary and bibliography. The fourth edition has been revised to incorporate two timely new chapters on animals and the environment. A breath of fresh air in a field that can often seem dry and dauntingly theoretical, this book will open the reader's eyes to the exhilarating possibilities of both reading and studying literature.

Teaching Literature in the Real World Patrick Collier, 2021-07-01 Offering guidance and inspiration to English literature instructors, this book faces the challenges of real-life teaching and the contemporary higher education classroom head-on. Whether you're teaching in a community college, a state school, a liberal arts college, or an Ivy League institution, this book offers valuable advice and insights which will help you to motivate, incentivize, and inspire your students. Addressing questions such as how do you articulate the value of literary education to students and administrators, and parents; how can a class session with a fatigued and underprepared group of students be made productive; and how do you incentivize overscheduled students to read energetically in preparation for class, this book answers these universal quandaries and more, providing a usable philosophy. of the value of literary education articulating a set of learning goals for students of literature and offering plenty of practical advice on pedagogical strategies day to day coping and more In its sum Teaching Literature in the Real World constitutes an experience based philosophy of teaching literature that is practical and realistic oriented towards helping students develop intellectual skills and committed to pedagogy built on explicit detailed and observable learning objectives The Craft of Research, 2nd edition Wayne C. Booth, Gregory G. Colomb, Joseph M. Williams, 2008-04-15 Since 1995 more than 150 000 students and researchers have turned to The Craft of Research for clear and helpful guidance on how to conduct research and report it effectively Now master teachers Wayne C Booth Gregory G Colomb and Joseph M Williams present a completely revised and updated version of their classic handbook Like its predecessor this new edition reflects the way researchers actually work in a complex circuit of thinking writing revising and rethinking It shows how each part of this process influences the others and how a successful research report is an orchestrated conversation between a researcher and a reader Along with many other topics The Craft of Research explains how to build an argument that motivates readers to accept a claim how to anticipate the reservations of thoughtful yet critical readers and to respond to them appropriately and how to create introductions and conclusions that answer that most demanding question So what Celebrated by reviewers for its logic and clarity this popular book retains its five part structure Part 1 provides an orientation to the research process and begins the discussion of what motivates researchers and their readers Part 2 focuses on finding a topic planning the project and locating appropriate sources This section is brought up to date with new information on the role of the Internet in research including how to find and evaluate sources avoid their misuse and test their reliability Part 3 explains the art of making an argument and supporting it The authors have extensively revised this section to present the structure of an argument in clearer and more accessible terms than in the first edition New distinctions are made among reasons evidence and reports of evidence The concepts of qualifications and rebuttals are recast as acknowledgment and response Part 4 covers drafting and revising and offers new information on the visual representation of data Part 5 concludes the book with an updated discussion of the ethics of research as well as an expanded bibliography that includes many electronic sources The new edition retains the accessibility insights and directness that have made The Craft of Research an indispensable guide for anyone doing research from students in high school through advanced graduate study to businesspeople and government employees The authors demonstrate convincingly that researching and reporting skills can be learned and used by all who undertake research projects New to this edition Extensive coverage of how to do research on the internet including how to evaluate and test the reliability of sources New information on the visual representation of data Expanded bibliography with many electronic sources Representing the Past Charlotte M.
